WORKMAN CRUSHED TO DEATH BY FREIGHT CAR

ANOTHER MAN BADLY HURT IN MILL TRAGEDY

Albert Kressin Dies of Injuries Received Thursday Afternoon at Kimberly

ONE MAN IN HOSPITAL HERE

Ernest Geniese, Seriously Injured, Believed to Have Chance for Recovery

Albert E. Kressin of Appleton, millwright, was fatally hurt and Ernest Geniese, Kimberly, foreman, was maimed as they were leaving work at Kimberly-Clark Co. papermill at Kimberly about 4:30 Thursday afternoon when they were caught between a moving freight car and a loading platform. Mr. Geniese is believed to have a chance for recovery.

Versions as to how the accident happened differ, because nobody witnessed what took place. An inquiry was to be made jointly by Kimberly-Clark Co. and Chicago and Northwestern Railway company at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon to determine the cause, if possible. Those who were near the scene at the time are to be called in and interviewed.

PINNED AGAINST PLATFORM

It appears that Mr. Kressin and Mr. Geniese were either walking between a sidetrack going into the mill and a loading platform, or were standing there talking. A switch engine was pushing several cars along the track and the men either were unaware of danger or thought there was enough clearance so they could stand between the cars and the platform and be safe. They were pinned against the edge of the platform, however, and the action of the moving car caused them to be squeezed and maimed.

The nature of their injuries would indicate also that this was about what took place. Mr. Kressin suffered a crushed chest and Mr. Geniese abdominal injuries. The former is a shorter man than the latter, so the injuries were centered in a different place.

Mr. Kressin had several ribs broken and it is believed that a lung and his heart were punctured by the bones. He failed to regain consciousness and died about 5 o'clock Friday morning at St. Elizabeth hospital. The men were conveyed there by Kunitz and Beyer ambulances.

Mr. Geniese is bruised from head to foot. He suffered abdominal injuries, a broken pelvis bone, a fracture of the upper left leg, has cuts and bruises on his head, face, chest and both legs. His condition is not favorable, the attending physician says, but some hope is held out for his recovery.

Mr. Kressin had been employed by Kimberly-Clark company for more than 25 years and was head millwright of the sulphite department. Mr. Geniese is foreman of one of the papermill shifts, a veteran World war and a former commander of the American legion post at Kimberly.

Mr. Kressin was 60 years old and resided at 803 N. Morrison st. He was born in Germany and came to this country with his parents when about ten years old. The family lived at Oshkosh for four years and then moved to a farm in Freedom. Mr. Kressin lived at Freedom for two years after his marriage in 1883 to Maggie Ochsenr. The couple then moved to the present home in Appleton. His widow is confined to her bed under a physician's care.

Mr. Kressin is survived by his widow, four children, Arthur, Milwaukee; Emro, Chicago; Mrs. Frank LaPere, Battle Creek, Mich.; Mrs. Zena Kressin, Berlin Springs, Mich.; and a grandchild, three brothers, Frank, Freedom; Herman, California; Edward, Appleton; one sister, Mrs. John Huss, Freedom.

JURY AWARDS JILTED MADISON GIRL $500 ON ORDER OF COURT

White Plains, N. Y.—Damages of $500 were awarded Thursday to Miss Jennie Peterson, formerly of Madison, Wis., and now of Washington, D. C., in her breach of promise suit against Grant Wells, a civil engineer of Peekskill, N. Y.

The jury reported a disagreement on order of Justice Taylor. It fixed the award at $500.

Miss Peterson testified that she met Wells while he was an official of a Madison high school. He gave her an engagement ring in 1919 after an extended courtship, she said, but in 1921 he married a Peekskill girl.

BANK ACCOUNT OF FALL UNDER FIRE

Sinclair's Million Dollar Counsel Fights to Keep Bankers Off Stand

By Associated Press
Cheyenne, Wyo.—Battling at the crucial stage of the Teapot Dome trial here Friday, Harry F. Sinclair's alleged "million dollar array of counsel" plunged into the case with a legal barrage to prevent introduction of testimony regarding bank accounts of Albert E. Fall, former secretary of the interior, who executed the Teapot lease to Sinclair's Mammoth Oil Co.

J. W. Lacey, veteran Wyoming attorney, led the attack with argument against the proposal of Owen J. Roberts of government counsel to recall to the stand bank officials from El Paso, Tex., and Pueblo, Colo., who said, would give testimony tending to show that Fall was the recipient of certain liberty bonds some of which, it would be shown, had come from Sinclair.

After the government counsel had called the witness in order that the defense might enter its objection, Mr. Lacey took up the argument for the defense.

"We object to this testimony on the ground that no evidence thus far has been offered tending to connect the defendant or any one connected with the defendant, in any conspiracy," said Lacey.

RIFF TRIBESMEN FIRE ON TELEGRAPH CABLE VESSEL

Gibraltar—Riff tribesmen fired on the British ship Amber engaged in laying cables for the Eastern Telegraph Co. off the African coast. The tribesmen desecrated the hoisting of the British ensign. The Amber was not damaged. The Spanish gunboat later intervened, opening fire on the shore.

GOV. "MA" FERGUSON IS ASKED TO SIGN PARDON FOR OUSTED HUSBAND

Austin, Tex.—The dramatic and unprecedented spectacle of a woman governor signing a virtual pardon for her husband was in prospect here Friday.

The bill granting full amnesty to James B. Ferguson, ousted from office while governor and barred from holding state office, completed its tempestuous passage through the legislature Thursday and now is before Ferguson's wife, Governor Miriam A. Ferguson for her signature.

Only the absence of Ferguson himself was delaying Governor Ferguson in giving her approval to the measure, probably the most unique ever placed before a state executive. Ferguson was called from Austin by the death of his sister last Tuesday at Husk, Tex., and was due to return Friday. Attorney General Moody holds the bill unconstitutional.

MURPHY TELLS HIS STORY OF FATAL WRECK

Appleton Paper Manufacturer on Stand in Green Bay Man-slaughter Hearing

YOUTHS HELD FOR TRIAL

Chaimson and Boehm Bound Over When Plea for Dismissal Is Denied

By Associated Press
Green Bay—Motions by defense counsel at the hearing of William Chaimson and Lewis Boehm, to dismiss the charges against them in connection with the automobile crash near DePere on Feb. 18, which resulted in the burning to death of Miss Martha Marshall, DePere, were denied and the pair were bound over for trial on March 31.

Green Bay—Whether the Peerless automobile driven by S. W. Murphy, general manager of the Riverside Fibre and Paper Co., Appleton, was standing still on the highway or whether it was moving when it was struck from the rear in the accident which caused the death of Miss Martha Marshall, DePere young woman, on Feb. 18, was the subject of a searching inquiry at the preliminary hearing of William Chaimson and Lewis Boehm here Thursday.

Chaimson is charged with manslaughter and the young men are being held for leaving the scene of the accident without offering assistance. Murphy, on the witness stand, contended that the car did not stop from the time it left a roadhouse near Green Bay until it was struck. He said the car was traveling between 30 and 35 miles an hour and that he had checked his speed by glancing at the speedometer as they neared DePere. His testimony was mostly a repetition of what he said at the coroner's inquest. It is expected that that Mr. Murphy and the other occupants of his automobile will be questioned further in the hearing.

HAD APPLIED BRAKES

From a campus, an auto mechanic testified that he saw marks on the pavement which indicated that Chaimson, driver of the car in which Miss Marshall was killed, had applied brakes when about 40 feet from the point of collision and had attempted to swing to the left but did not swing far enough to avoid the crash. He said that if Murphy's car was moving ten miles an hour the Chaimson machine must have been traveling at 60 miles to cause an accident as was indicated by pavement marks.

Murphy described his movements the entire evening. He said he left Appleton with two salesmen and two young women about 6 o'clock and had dinner at a Green Bay cafe after which they went to a roadhouse. They started for home about 11 o'clock.

CAR TIPPED OVER

A debate ensued between Murphy and counsel for the accused young men on what Murphy meant by saying his car had "tipped over." Murphy contended that the car was tipped over even though it was on its four wheels but was not in an upright condition. He testified that his car did not tip over completely. He told how he kicked open a door and how the occupants crawled out. The women left the burning cars at once, fearing an explosion, but Murphy remained behind for a moment or two until the fire truck arrived. Then the party went to the Northwestern depot at DePere to take a train.

Hern York, a waiter in a lunchroom in Green Bay, testified that both Chaimson and Boehm appeared to be intoxicated when they entered his lunchroom after the accident. He said he smelled intoxication and that they walked unsteadily. He noticed blood on the forehead of one of the men.

TARIFF BOARD TO PROBE COST OF MAKING BUTTER

Washington, D. C.—The tariff commission will begin hearings Apr. 21, on its inquiry into the comparative cost of producing butter in the United States and in foreign competing countries.

The commission has selected Denmark as the principal competing country for the purpose of its investigation into foreign costs. During the last five years butter imports from Denmark averaged 10,138,000 pounds. This commission likewise has made a tentative finding as to the cost of butter production in the United States based on statistics for the year 1921. Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa were placed as the three largest producing states, in order named.

FLU AND PNEUMONIA DEATHS IN CHICAGO MOUNT TO NEARLY 300

Chicago—Although 28 deaths were reported in 13 hours ending at 9:30 Thursday night, and 73 new cases are reported, Dr. Herman N. Burgeson, city health commissioner, has declared there is no real epidemic of influenza and respiratory diseases here.

The normal number of deaths would be 13 and new cases would be 40 a day for this time of the year, health authorities said, warning that public carelessness would cause a spread of the disease.

The diseases are more like an epidemic here in 1922 than 1918, which was malignant and hard to combat said health authorities.

The deaths Thursday brought the total fatalities from influenza and pneumonia since Mar. 1 to 279.

ADMIT M'CLINTOCK GOT TYPHOID GERMS

Head of Science School and Agent Exchange Blows in Letter Dispute

By Associated Press
Chicago—Dr. C. C. Faiman, owner of the National University of Sciences, questioned in the coroner's inquiry into the death from typhoid of William Nelson McClintock, "millionaire" was said by state's attorneys Friday to have admitted after an all night questioning that a tube of typhoid germs was stolen from him a year ago last November.

John S. Sharbaro, assistant prosecutor, also said Faiman told him that William D. Shepherd, foster father and chief heir of McClintock's $2,000,000 estate visited the school and took several sample lessons.

During a lull in the questioning Faiman and John P. Marchand formerly his agent and also questioned, came to blows in a dispute over a letter which they said Shepherd had written to the school asking information regarding courses. When questioned before the coroner's jury both had admitted there had been such a letter but neither could remember what had become of it. Marchand charged Faiman with knowing what became of it, which Faiman denied and several blows were struck before they were parted.

Shepherd, at his suburban home, when informed over the telephone of Faiman's statements, said, "It's all a lie. I had never heard of the university before. I had never seen Faiman until the last hearing of the inquest."

HOLD WHIPPING BOSS IN PROBE OF MISSING NEGRO

Groes City, Fla.—A special grand jury began an investigation in the disappearance of Lewis Barker, Negro, last October.

Five men including Thomas W. Higginbotham, former alleged "whipping boss" of the Putnam Lumber Co., and a Negro are being held under suspicion in connection with the case.

Only a few bones, several pennies and a pair of shoes, found recently near the Lumber company plant, remain of what is believed to have been the body of the Negro and those will form the basis on which the investigation will be founded.

Higginbotham, George McKane, B. G. Priest and J. H. Windsor, are arrested several days ago and are being held in jail pending the outcome of the investigation.

CAL CONFIDENT OF SENATE O. K. ON WARREN POST

Believes Only Political Parliamentary Maneuver Defeated Confirmation

SAYS RECORD UNSULLIED

Democrats and Insurgents May Try to Force Adjournment as Only Recourse

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1925 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge is determined to have Charles E. Warren confirmed as attorney general at the special session of the senate now sitting.

Mr. Coolidge feels that mere parliamentary maneuvers prevented confirmation in the first place. He was advised by several senators that a second submission of the nomination would mean another rejection, but the administration could not be any worse off by a second rejection than it is now and it has on the other hand a good chance of winning the fight.

FOUR SOLONS ARSENT

In the first place, at least four senators who would have voted for confirmation were unavoidably absent. Also Vice President Dawes was not present to cast his vote to break the tie.

But the next step requires a conference of the Democrats and the insurgents to determine a course of procedure. If the administration has the votes, the Democrats could absent themselves from the senate and force an adjournment, or else they could compel the Republicans to agree to take up the world court proposal as a trade for the presence of a quorum and then count on the same line-up of the other day plus some converted votes to reject the nomination a second time.

IS NON-COMMITTAL

Mr. Coolidge was noncommittal until after he conferred with Mr. Warren, and Senator Butler of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee and manager of the last campaign. They say defeat in the controversy as likely to hurt the prestige of the new administration and cause apprehension among big business men as to whether the Republicans would be in real control next session.

There was another reason. Mr. Warren has been in the service of the Republican party a long time. The president feels that his one time connections with the sugar trust would not interfere with his handling the department of justice, that Mr. Warren has twice been confirmed by the senate to represent the United States as ambassador to Japan and as ambassador to Mexico and that his integrity therefore is not questioned.

STEALS CARS TO PROVIDE REPAIRS FOR OWN MACHINE

MORRIS TAX BILL CUTS STATE QUOTA

Substitute Amendment Increases Exemptions and Swells City's Share

By Associated Press
Madison—Provisions of the Morris substitute amendment to the Blaine income tax bill, known as senate bill No. 122, and which was the cause of postponement of consideration of the bill following a senate filibuster on the night of Mar. 11, embrace a new method of distribution of revenue derived under the bill, and the substitution of 15 per cent reduction in lieu of offset. The whole income tax proposition will be taken up next Wednesday, by agreement of the opposing sides.

The substitute would leave intact the provisions of the administration amendment which relate to a raise in the individual exemption from $1,200 to $1,600 for married persons or heads of families. It also leaves intact a raise in exemption from $200 to $300 on each child or dependent.

Whereas the administration amendment provides for a six per cent reduction in lieu of offset, the substitute would provide a reduction of 15 per cent from the gross income based on the assessed value of property used in acquisition of income.

The method of distribution would be 15 per cent to the state, 20 per cent to the city, town or village where the income tax is collected.

WANTS TO AMEND GAS TAX BILL TO TAX STORED GAS

By Associated Press
Madison—As a result of the gasoline tax conference here, an amendment to the new highway law enacted in Wisconsin, it was pointed out, the state $1,000,000 additional revenue, will be introduced into the legislature, Solomon Levitan, state treasurer announced.

The amendment will eliminate the clause exempting gasoline in storage April 1 from taxation he said. Millions of gallons of gasoline is in storage in Wisconsin, it was pointed out, and the companies instead of state would profit by more than $1,000,000 under the exemption. The new bill will place the tax on all gasoline in the state. It was announced.

TEST CASE ON FISH LAW VIOLATION IS POSTPONED

Sturgeon Bay—The trial of John Peltier, former assistant manager of Door county, scheduled to begin here Thursday was postponed until the September term of court. Peltier is charged with violation of the state fish and game law, which prohibits netting of any kind in the shore waters of Green Bay. He has hinted at making the case a test of the law.

CLEAR DECKS FOR INCOME BILL FIGHT

Legislature Disposes of 47 Measures, Including Barber Bill

Madison—The decks of the state senate were cleared for action for next week's income taxation legislation when forty-seven bills were passed, including the Staab bill extending the powers of barbers to bob the hair of women. The senate calendar for the week was swept clear and many of the bills ordered engrossed on the calendars of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday which would not have been up for passage until next week, were by unanimous consent to suspend the rules, taken up and passed.

Pulpwood inspection in Wisconsin passes from legislation history in concurrence of the senate in the Gwilt bill by unanimous vote.

The bill has the approval of the governor and there is no doubt but that he will affix his signature to the measure in the next few days.

The new barber's measure, which is expected to become law with the signature of Governor John J. Blaine, provides:

"Barbering is shaving, trimming the beard, cutting the hair, shampooing scalp or face massage of any male for payment. Cutting, singeing, shampooing or drying hair, or scalp or face massage of any person for payment may be performed by a person licensed under either chapter 153 or Chapter 159 of the statutes."

Among important bills passed by the senate are No. 337 and 387 which carry respectively, the emergency appropriations for the state university and the normal schools. Both are finance committee measures and were passed on roll call with but one dissenting vote, that of Senator H. J. Severson, Iowa, to the university bill.

EXPERT'S TESTIMONY LEANS TO WISCONSIN IN BOUNDARY DISPUTE

Madison—Ship channels into Green Bay were the subject of testimony in the Michigan-Wisconsin boundary dispute here Friday. Col. Laurence Martin, chief of maps and charts in the library of congress, identified maps and charts of both Wisconsin and Michigan exhibits and located on them lines designated as ship channels.

Mr. Martin identified the channels as running north of Washington Island, which would substantiate Wisconsin's claim to the present boundary. M. P. Sawyer, special counsel for Michigan, pointed out, however, that previous evidence introduced indicated that ships going into Green Bay journeyed down Lake Michigan to islands southeast of Washington Island, and consequently would enter Green Bay over a different course.

COOLIDGE IS DEFEATED IN 1ST SKIRMISH

Borah and Norris Join Democrats to Oppose Attorney General Nomination

ONE VOTE CAST BY PROXY

Idaho Senator Called to White House for Conference but Stands Pat

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—An adverse report on the nomination of Charles E. Warren to be attorney general was ordered Friday by the senate judiciary committee. The vote was 9 to 7.

Twice previously the nomination had commanded a majority in the same committee.

All of the Democrats and Senators Borah of Idaho and Norris of Nebraska, (Rep.) voted Friday against a favorable report.

The vote of Senator Borah was cast by proxy; the Idaho senator being at the time at the White House where he had been summoned by President Coolidge.

SEE LITTLE HOPE

Despite the president's decision to call some of the Republican opponents of confirmation into conference and make a personal appeal to them, many of the party regulars saw little hope of favorable action on the nomination which once has been rejected. Senator Borah told Mr. Coolidge frankly he saw no chance of confirmation. The committee vote Friday was as follows:

For: Ernest K.ucky, Spencer, Missouri; Means, Colorado; Harrell, Oklahoma; Deneen, Illinois and Gillett, Massachusetts, all Republicans.

Against a favorable report: Borah, Idaho; Norris, Nebraska. Republicans: Overman, North Carolina; Reed, Missouri; Ashurst, Arizona; Walsh, Montana; Caraway, Arkansas; King, Utah; and Neely, West Virginia, Democrats.

Senator Overman previously had voted for confirmation both in the committee and in the senate.

QUESTION RIGHT

The constitutional right of the president to resubmit the nomination was questioned by Senators Reed and Walsh and most of the committee session lasting an hour and a half was devoted to argument on that point.

The question was not brought to vote, as senators wanted additional time to consider it. Chairman Cummings took the position that the president was fully within his rights. Senator Walsh offered this resolution:

"The president of the U. S. is without constitutional right or authority to submit to the senate a nomination for public office heretofore at the same session rejected by the senate."

"The rules of the senate as well as fundamental principles of parliamentary law forbid the consideration by the senate of a nomination so resubmitted."

"It is incompatible with the dignity of the senate to entertain a nomination so submitted."

SWING WHIP

With an adverse report from the committee opponents will hold a parliamentary whip hand during the fight on the floor. Senator Walsh will present the report. Further examination of authorities Friday led many senators to the belief that the president could force the April election by appointment after adjournment and that his acts as attorney general could not be brought into question even though the senate had twice rejected the nomination. The extent of the senate's authority they said would be to withhold pay.

CALLAHAN FILES PAPERS WITH STATE SECRETARY

Madison—John Callahan, superintendent of public instruction, has filed his announcement as a candidate for renomination with the secretary of state. He is the only candidate that has filed nomination papers for the office. It was announced. The election will be held in April and will be chosen in the primaries, March 24.

RESERVE OFFICERS ORGANIZE, ELECT KEICHER AS HEAD

National Affiliation Will Be Asked When Charter Roll Is Completed Here

Sixteen officers of the United States reserve corps were formed into a local reserve officers association with Lieut. P. O. Keicher as president, at a meeting in the chamber of commerce rooms Thursday evening. Application will be made after the preliminaries are over with, for a local chapter of the United States Reserve Officers Association.

Another meeting will be held Thursday evening, March 26, at which the charter roll will be completed. If enough officers have paid their membership fees by that time, national affiliation will be sought. Fifteen members or more are needed.

The other officers elected were Lieut. W. W. Frank, vice president, and Lieut. Stanley Stadi, secretary and treasurer. Lieut. Alvin Bradford and Lieut. Stadi and Frank were appointed as a committee to prepare a constitution and bylaws and submit them at the coming meeting.

Lieut. Col. Edward Calvert and Capt. Fred Rogers, officers of the regular army on duty in Appleton, were present and explained the advantages of having the reserve men in a chapter so they could know one another and do more efficient work in the interest of the reserve corps.

The Appleton chapter when completed, will include all reserve officers in Outagamie co., Neenah-Menasha and other nearby points. There are 40 in this county alone who will be asked to join. Those who are interested are invited to attend the next meeting.

Officers present at the meeting beside those mentioned above were Lieut. Delton C. Beaulieu, Lieut. Walter J. Broehm, Capt. Edwin P. Grunden, Maj. Frederick W. Hoffman, Lieut. Rufus Jorgenson, Floyd T. Kessler, Harold C. McGinnis, C. H. Hussner, William C. McGinnis, William Madison and Raymond S. Manville, Capt. Harold L. Playman and Lieut. Clyde P. Schroeder and Theodore E. Xistris.

COURT GOES TO MAN'S HOME TO OBTAIN HIS TESTIMONY

Further testimony and depositions in the case of M. A. Schuh vs. the Quinton Gas and Oil Co. were taken before Judge Beglinger in circuit Friday morning. Much testimony still remains to be taken, it was said. Mr. Schuh is suing the gas company for a commission on a transaction which he completed for the firm.

After a short session Friday morning the case was adjourned to the home of J. M. Braun, 533 N. Superior st. where his deposition was taken.

COMMUNITY MEETING IN SUNNY VALLEY SCHOOL

Invitations to a community meeting which will be held Friday evening at Sunny Valley school, District No. 2, Cicero, have been issued to people of the vicinity, according to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. The invitations were prepared by pupils of the school and the front page contains a crayon drawing of a red bird. A line on the third page of the booklet reads "It's for Everyone." A social hour will follow the meeting. The school had one of the first Parent Teacher associations of the county, organized two years ago. Miss Esther Buboltz is the teacher.

G. J. Monk and E. J. Pope both of New York, were here on business.

PERFECTION
Oil Cook Stoves and Ovens

These are the popular Perfection Stoves that have over four and one million users. They are universally known for genuine cooking satisfaction. Just recently great improvements were made in the construction of these models, the old style frame being replaced with a new straight-leg design, similar in appearance to our higher priced models. The cooking top is higher and roomier and is equipped with square grates. A new base shelf provides just the place for your extra pots and pans. The same dependable burners remain unchanged, the chimneys, however, are finished in a new, tough "cobalt" blue enamel which resists chipping and crazing and does not readily show stain. With all of these improvements and the many well known exclusive Perfection features, it is a cook stove of unequalled value at its popular price.

And what a hit these fresh producing tablets have made. One drug store tripled his sales in one week. Everybody knows that nasty tasting, evil-smelling Cod Liver Oil is a wonderful vitaminizer, flesh producer and health creator.

But who wants to swallow the horrible stuff, when these wonderful tablets—McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, are just as good and so easy to take.

A box of tablets, for 60 cents and if any skinny man or woman doesn't gain at least 10 pounds in 30 days—money back. Ask Schlicht Bros., Downtown's Drug Store or any good drug store anywhere in America.

Be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine, and don't forget there is nothing so good to make backward looking underweight children grow strong and robust.

PAVING INSPECTORS RETURN FROM JAUNT

Members of the Appleton committee on pavements who left for Chicago and St. Louis Monday to inspect pavements there, returned Thursday night. The committee, consisting of R. M. Connelly, Robert C. Ziska, L. O. Hansen, J. F. Tappen, C. F. Smith, Jerry Culnan, Charles Pose and H. R. Beske, inspected various types of pavements during their trip. Some of them are highly enthused over one type in which an asphalt coat is applied over a macadam base, without the previous use of concrete.

BUILDING PERMITS

Real estate permits carrying cost estimates of $10,000 were issued Thursday by George Peotter, city building inspector as follows:

The fire department was called at 8 o'clock Friday morning by the home of Albert Seybold, 1110 W. Franklin st. A chimney fire occurred there but no damage was done.

BILL FIRES 2 FROM ROAD COMMISSION

Madison—A bill aimed at the elimination of the two ex officio members of the state highway commission was introduced in the legislature yesterday by the senate committee on highways. This is believed to be the Blaine bill expected for some time.

The bill would create a new way of selecting members of the commission and provides, among other things, that the state highway commission shall consist of five members appointed by the governor. One of the members would be required to have technical knowledge of highway materials, one of knowledge of highway engineering, one a man with farming knowledge, one who is a resident of a city and one, a member at large.

No two members would come from the same congressional district. The terms of office for the five who would be appointed under the bill would expire in 1927, 1928, 1929, 1930, and 1931.

APPLETON AMONG STOPPING PLACES ON SHRINE CRUISE

Wettengel Attends Presentation of Flags to State Masonic Commanderies

Appleton will be one of the stopping places on a pilgrimage of the state which Wisconsin Shriners will make during June, according to information obtained by George R. Wettengel while in Milwaukee this week. Mr. and Mrs. Wettengel returned Wednesday, after attending the fortieth anniversary celebration of Tripoli temple of the Shrine, and the presentation of flags to all commanderies of Knights Templar in Wisconsin.

All Shriners in Wisconsin will be invited to take part in the pilgrimage. Three special trains will be chartered for the tour and the members will be accompanied by the Tripoli Shrine band, officers and patrol. One city will be selected for staging the Shrine ceremonial, which includes conferring the Shrine degree. An hour's stop will be made in Appleton, and arrangements will be made locally for receiving the visitors. The object of the journey is to stimulate interest in the Shrine among Masons in Wisconsin.

Mr. Wettengel, as ambassador of the pontificate of Tripoli temple to Appleton commandery, Knights Templar, received the flag which was presented by the Shrine to the local lodge. Fifty of these flags were presented to Wisconsin commanderies, with elaborate ceremonies. The banner is 4 by 6 feet in size, with gold fringe and is to be used in parade. The local six knights will arrange a special occasion at Masonic temple when the flag is delivered to them by the ambassador.

HAREFOOT CLUB STILL USE ANCIENT GYPSY TRUNKS

Among the most cherished possessions of the Harefoot Club of the University of Wisconsin, which will present its twenty-seventh annual play, "Ivan-Ho!" at Fischer's Appleton Theater, April 4, are three trunks, presented to the club by James Bacharach in 1914.

Bacharach was a full-blooded gypsy who, with his uncle, was driven from his home because of a petty dispute. After wandering about the earth for some time, living in Sydney, Australia, Honolulu, and St. Petersburg, Russia, they settled down in Dixon, Illinois.

Soon, however, James ran away to Chicago and obtained a part in a troupe presenting "Uncle Tom's Cabin." His job being to play the role of a negro servant in the play, and to entertain the audience between acts with selections on a "sweet potato." After a short tour, the company stranded, and James obtained several boxes of burnt cork and three trunks of costumes in lieu of salary. He returned to Dixon with the trunks.

Later James attended the University of Wisconsin, and in his senior year obtained a leading part in the Harefoot play, "Gypsy Suzanne." He accompanied the club on its trip and was not forced to walk a step on the way home.

Out of gratitude he presented to the club the burnt cork and the three faithful costume trunks. The cork was soon used, but the trunks remain and will accompany the Harefoot club on its 1925 trip.

NOMINATE 6 AS TRUSTEES OF LAWRENCE GRADUATES

Six nominees, two of whom are of Appleton, have been selected for trustees of the alumni association, according to Anders P. Anderson, alumni secretary. These names will be placed before the alumni for selection of four trustees before the commencement, at which time the ballots will be counted. From the four selected, the board will elect two.

The nominees are Frank Schneller, '02, Neenah; Dr. Manley Sandborn, '02, Appleton; Clara Stansbury Young, '07, Appleton; Mrs. Kirby White, '01, Detroit; David H. Stevens, '08, Chicago; and Delbert Lean, '01, Wooster, Ohio.

AMALGAMATED ORDER OF HENS INCENSED AT FARMERS' TRICK

Due to a great increase in production, the price of eggs has begun its usual spring decline, but if the threatened strike among egg-producing hens of the county is called, henricide is likely to reach the peak price again. According to Appleton rural mail carriers, farmers about their routes are beginning to experience twitches of conscience. Some of them have installed alarm clocks in their hen-coops, connected with electric light switches which are set for an hour before dawn. The poor, deluded hens, mistaking the artificial light for the rising sun, have been hastening on the job and some of them put in more than twelve hours a day. This is a gross infringement of the laws of the Hens union, and it is rumored walking delegates have been sent out to agitate a strike.

HIGH SCHOOL HAS $42,000 IN BUDGET

Approximately $42,000 remained in the Appleton high school budget on March 1 to operate the school for the remainder of the term, according to a report submitted to the board of education by Miss Carrie Morgan, superintendent of schools. Expenditures for February were $10,893.75, making a total of $73,892.75 for the period from July 1, 1924 to March 1, 1925. Total receipts for February, including the month's portion of the budget, were $49,284.22.

The chief items of expense for February were $8,609.68 for salaries, $549.61 for supplies, $482.50 interest and $405 for janitors.

In only two items did the expenditures for the period covered by the report exceed the budget allowance. The sum set aside for books and magazines was $600, while $693.12 was expended. Equipment allowance of $2,620 was exceeded by $87.88.

GUARD INSPECTION WILL BE HELD ON APRIL 22

Annual inspection of Company D, 127th Infantry, will be made on April 22. Capt. E. F. Grunderman has announced. Inspection will be made by Lieutenant Colonel Calvert. Announcement of the time the guardsmen will go to summer camp will be made shortly after inspection. There will be no officers school next June because of lack of funds.

GRAU INVITED AS SPEAKER AT ANNUAL C. OF C. MEETING

First Man to Address Organization Will Be Asked to Come Here April 14

Phil A. Grau of Milwaukee, who was the first man to address Appleton Chamber of Commerce when it was organized in 1920, will be invited to give the talk at the annual meeting April 14, according to plans made by the board of directors at the bi-weekly session in the chamber offices Wednesday evening. A dinner probably will be held that evening to hear the annual reports.

If Mr. Grau is not available the board will seek another speaker who is equally good. An invitation also will be extended C. F. Pratt, secretary of Sheboygan Association of Commerce, to furnish entertainment at the meeting. He has appeared here before in humorous sketches.

Support of J. Winter Davis as a director of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, as requested in a letter from the American Fruit and Vegetable Shipping association, Chicago, was not granted. The board voted to inform the association that Appleton's councillor will go to the national chamber meeting uninvited.

Thanks to the chamber for entering the national fire waste contest was expressed in a letter received from James L. Madison of the insurance department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He announced that 350 cities are now in the contest.

Cross Eyes Straightened

Over 25 years ago I began to specialize in the straightening of cross eyes. In this work I have developed and perfected a system that makes results so certain that I truthfully state "No need to hesitate. Your cross eyes can be straightened." My records now show over

6,000 SUCCESSFUL CASES FROM MAINE TO CALIFORNIA

Many of these, learning of my reputation from others whose eyes I have straightened, have come thousands of miles to have me relieve them of the awful disfiguring blight of cross eyes. And when they came, they were amazed that these marvelous results were secured usually in one visit, with no hospital stay. Don't take my word alone for this—send for list of recent successful cases; perhaps some are from your city. The following are a few: C. Gallenberger, 125 S. Oakland, Green Bay; Richard Peterson, 917 McDonald-St., Green Bay; Henry Thomas, 701 Jackson-St., Wausau; Miss M. Henzler, 609 Monroe-St., Ft. Atkinson; Herman Braun, 1330 Geely, Sheboygan; John Lam, 1331-7th-St., Oshkosh; Mrs. A. Cripe, 605 2nd-St., Milwaukee. Call or write to them—let them tell you of the happiness, the better looks, the better eyesight they now enjoy because I straightened their eyes. Parents—save your child's eyesight, save their endless embarrassment, by having their cross eyes straightened.

SPECIAL OFFER
Send me a description of your case. If I accept it, I will provide a special excursion, FREE FARE to Chicago. Ask for details.

51 EXAMINED AT FREE BABY CLINIC

Fifty-one children were examined at the last of a series of three baby clinics conducted at Appleton. Women club by Sylvia Stuessey of the state department of health at Madison. The clinic was conducted Tuesday and Wednesday. The most common defects found in the children were poor teeth and infected tonsils, and a number were underweight.

Mrs. C. O. Gochbauer was general chairman of the three clinics for the club, and was assisted by a group of local nurses.

The clinic was open to all children of pre-school age in the county. The club will conduct a free chest clinic at the Playhouse March 27 and 28. Announcement of this has been made to all Parent-Teacher associations in the county.

MAKING FARCE OF TAX LEGISLATION
The tax fight at Madison seems to be rapidly degenerating into a repetition of the farce staged in the legislature two years ago. After showing on a test sufficient strength to force a vote on the tax bill in an eleventh-hour amended form, and after a declaration by the administration forces that the senate would be kept in session until a vote was taken, a small filibuster became suddenly effective and the whole question is put off another week, until next Wednesday.

The procedure of the administration during the last two or three weeks, so reminding of the episodes of the days of 1923 which ended in a failure to enact any tax legislation, are enigmatic. In the first place, it has never been quite clear whether the governor favored the bill reported by the senate committee as an administration measure. Mr. Blaine has been almost diplomatic in his lack of frankness. In the second place, after this bill was fervidly defended by the administration forces at hearings, and the public was given to understand the administration was determined to pass it, an amendment which materially revises the measure is brought in the day it is slated for a vote and adopted. No time was given for consideration, either by members or the public, of the changes wrought in the bill. Presumably the bill as amended would have been passed without deliberation had it not been for the filibuster. Was the filibuster after all received with sympathy by the administration? There are reasons for believing it was not unwelcome.

As a result of the sudden amendment of the bill and its postponement for another week, the whole tax question is again in the air. The amendment may afford relief to some business concerns as compared with the bill in its original form, but there are many under its provisions whose taxes will be raised heavily. Nobody seems to know what its effects may be, except that as a whole the bill remains a thrust at productive enterprise. It will increase income taxation heavily and will afford insignificant relief to property, if any. It will give less leeway to productive enterprise to pay better wages and to accumulate desirable surpluses. It puts the brakes on a reduction in the cost of living.

We do not know that anything is to be gained by attempting to block the administration in its program, if it has a program. If it wishes to enact radical and discriminatory tax legislation, it may as well come. The reaction against such a policy will follow that much sooner. The responsibility should attach definitely to the administration, and when the people finally learn, as they will in time, that its tax policy only adds to the burden of the consumer, depresses wages and employment and retards industrial development, they will rally to the support of a tax policy patterned after that of President Coolidge and based on economy in government and reduction in taxation.

COOLIDGE WON'T QUIT
Regardless of what public opinion may be as to the qualifications and fitness of Mr. Warren for attorney general, President Coolidge is to be admired for his decision to fight the issue out with the senate following the rejections of his nominee. Mr. Coolidge has re-submitted the name of Mr. Warren, and a strong effort will be made by him through his representatives in the senate to secure confirmation.

The significance of the senate's attitude as it now stands will not be lost. It is a reflection on the dignity, the judgment, the integrity of the president. It is the right of the senate to reject where confirmation is provided by the constitution, and while there is precedent for rejection, a president's wishes in such matters ought to control unless there is outstanding proof of the unfitness of the nominee.

Were Mr. Coolidge satisfied from the publicity given Mr. Warren's record in the senate that this proof of unfitness had been made and that his nomination was a mistake, we have no doubt he would acknowledge the fact and would not seek confirmation again. It is evident that the president believes nothing prejudicial of Mr. Warren's worthiness or qualification to serve as attorney general has been brought out.

Promptly upon the rejection of Mr. Warren by the senate, the president summoned his appointee to Washington and "obtained his consent to allow his name to be presented again to the senate." By this act the president assumes full and personal responsibility for the appointment. The issue, both in a political and social sense, is now clean-cut between the president and the senate. The senate can confirm the appointment without taking responsibility as a confirming body for the selection, but solely in deference to Mr. Coolidge's desires. The president is in a better position to judge as to whether a sufficient case has been made out against Mr. Warren or not. The senate cannot view the question except in the light of political consequences and reactions. It is the president's judgment which should prevail.

MUST FINISH MONUMENT
Gutson Borglum and the Stone Mountain Memorial Committee are at odds—doubtless the inevitable clash of the artistic and business temperaments.

They will settle their differences, by such lawsuits or compromises as they please, and in due time they and all who knew them will be dead, and a little later forgotten.

But meantime, under one sponsorship or another, the great monument must be completed. This generation can not afford to let it go down to posterity a fragment, commemorating only our incapacity to finish what we began.

For this monument, with the other planned in honor of the Union, will be the most permanent human thing on this planet. It will literally outlast the geologic ages. Further into the future than the Neanderthal man is in the past, through a period longer than the whole evolution of man, from his subhuman ancestors until now, that monument will stand as the last record of the age which glorified war.

Archaeologists of the Twentieth century will describe it as of a period "a little later than the Egyptians."

Even longer, if the earth's crust has now reached relative stability, it may outlast Man, and even life itself. Some future gas-masked expedition from Venus, ten million years hence, may photograph it as the only surviving monument of the creatures that once inhabited the now frozen and airless planet.

It may have been foolish to undertake a thing so stupendous and indestructible, and so artistically disputable, but, having put our hand to it, we dare not turn back.

TODAY'S POEM

RESISTANCE
EARLY in the morning, when the kids hop out of bed, right quickly all the house is in a flurry. A rushin' here and there until it truly can be said, it's the only time a youngster's in a hurry.
It's "Mama, wash my hands and face, I'll wash my ears myself." A little bit is running 'round like mad. And then a brush and comb come tumbling down from the shelf. The brushing job the youngster does is sad.
"I gotta have some stockings 'cause I've worn my others through. The worst I had on yesterday is soiled." So mother's in an uproar till she don't know what to do. For years, each morning thus she has toiled.
The youngster squats upon the floor and laces up his shoes. Then loudly he will shout, "For heaven's sake!" Why is it such a busy time the time that fate will choose to interfere until a shoe string breaks?
At length the child is ready and his mother leaves a sigh. He'll grab some milk and cookies, as a rule. Then, shortly you will hear him shout a sideways "goodbye," as he dashes out the door and goes to school.

CRITICISM OF A CRITICISM.
In an article entitled "Cold Logic" printed here recently I quoted the following from a folder distributed by a corporation which engages in the practice of hygiene through extensive advertising: "There is little doubt but that certain manifestations of the common cold such as congestion in the head and running at the nose are purely physical reactions due to chilling of the body. Whether or not such a condition passes over into an infective cold depends on the condition of the individual, and probably largely on the type of bacteria that are already present. In the nasal cavities and throat."

I ridiculed this theory by emphasizing the fact that the reactions referred to are merely physical, not spiritual or mental as one might otherwise have supposed, and by paying Houdini to investigate the magic by which the "purely physical reaction" changes over to an infectious disease—or if Houdini isn't available, then asking Mrs. Gamp or Ben Told how it is done.
So far, a teacher of pathology in a medical college tells me, my criticism was fine. But he is afraid I spoiled it by going too far with my explanation. And I am afraid the teacher is right, now that he points out the flaw in my argument. Anyhow, I had better try to explain my explanation.
My article concluded with this remark: "To be sure, bacteria are almost always present in the healthy person's nasal passages and the throat, sometimes virulent disease germs. But we have no reason for assuming that such germs are virulent to the individual who carries them; on the contrary, there is more reason to assume that such germs tend to immunize the carrier."
My pathologist critic avers that germs which are not virulent can scarcely confer immunity in any circumstances, and far be it from me to question the accuracy of his knowledge about that. He says: "You had the germ theory and then you spoiled it by fumbling the ball at the last moment. It would have been sufficient, oh, quite, had you closed with the remark that we had no ground for the suggestion that such germs are virulent to the individual who carries them. The finish you put on that sound argument amounts to something, strangely like an Hibernicism."

Which is all true, I am sure. And what makes it worse still is, I dare not try to blame it on the proof readers, the editors or the printers this time. But anyway there was our dog and another dog. Here comes my explanation of the bull.
Take as a type of bacteria often present in the nasal passages or throat of healthy persons, the pneumococcus. Although cultures from the nose or throat of any large group of people will show the pneumococcus present in the majority, it is a non-virulent strain in four out of five cases. We know that virulent bacteria diminish in virulence as they pass through successive animals or persons. Perhaps these nonvirulent strains of pneumococci have lost their virulence in that way—and in process of losing it have conferred some degree of immunity upon the persons harboring them. The pneumococcus is the germ that causes pneumonia and many cases of these common respiratory infections which some folks call "colds" but I call cill, pronounced kree, the word being built with the initial letters of common respiratory infections, and conveying a true meaning, unlike the term "colds."

LOOKING BACKWARD
TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.
Friday, March 16, 1900.
Mr. and Mrs. F. W. B. Rahn celebrated their eighteenth wedding anniversary yesterday. Several of their neighbors were guests.
The date of March 28 was set for the dedication of the new city hall and library building. Arrangements were in charge of C. C. Jones, F. H. Ryan, Miss Carrie Morgan, F. J. Harwood, H. Brown and Joseph Meyer. Mayors of a number of surrounding cities were invited.
M. F. Barteau was at Green Bay yesterday to attend a meeting of the Northwestern Wisconsin Race circuit. Appleton pledged $2,200 toward the horse races for which arrangements were being made at the meeting.
The sisters of St. Elizabeth hospital announced that they would put $30,000 into the proposed new hospital building if the city would provide another $10,000. Soliciting committees were canvassing the city to raise the necessary amount.
J. H. Finnegan was planning to move his barber shop to the building formerly occupied by C. S. Little and Co.
Miss Marie Sandford, student at Lawrence university, was badly injured by an explosion of gas in the chemical laboratory.
A large force of game wardens was to be sent to the region of Lake Winnebago and Lake Poygan to stop violations of the game and fish laws. This locality was considered one of the worst in the state in this respect.
The traveling men who saw a woman sitting at one of the desks at the Sherman house declared that many women were representing business houses on the road these days and predicted that women would soon outnumber the men in this work.

TEN YEARS AGO.
Friday, March 12, 1915.
Alarm was felt at Washington because of the killing of John McManis of Chicago in Mexico, and also because of the arrival of the Elit Frederick, a German war cruiser at Newport News. These events were complicating the international situation.
A deal was closed this morning whereby W. O. Thiede purchased the store this morning which his clothing business had been occupying for several years. The property was owned by the Herman Erb Land Co.
The Mer-Mer motion picture house on College ave. was sold this morning by W. E. McKenna and Mr. Voge resigned as cashier at the Traction Co. to devote his entire time to management of the theater.
An eleven-pound son was born yesterday morning to Mr. and Mrs. George Barrett, Bennett-st. Tobekah lodge was planning a "district school party" for St. Patrick day at Odd Fellow hall. Each member was to dress as a school child. Mrs. George Wright, Morrison-st., was to be the school-mistress.
Mrs. A. O. Danielson, South River-st., entertained the South Side club, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. George Miller and Miss Mary Sands were guests of honor.

A CALENDAR ROMANCE
Our hero was the common sort, when all is said and done. He worked his head off daily and was out to get the MON.
The reason for this diligence was commonplace, 'tis true. He tried to swell his salary so it would suffice for TUE.
And maybe that's the reason why one day he lost his head. And falling on his knees, he cried, "Oh maiden, wilt thou WED?"
He may have thought this sudden, but it seemed not to her. She flapped a quick acceptance and said forcibly, "Teth THUR."
But when he went to keeping house he feared that he would die. For, oh, that maiden maiden could neither bake nor FRI.
She could not run a bungalow, or even run a flat.
So on many sad occasions in a restaurant they SAT.
But he forgave her everything—as man has always done—
When she presented him one day with a bouncing baby SUN.

Say Executives Should Debate With Congress
BY FREDERICK J. HASKIN
Washington, D. C.—A fundamental reform of congressional procedure whereby representatives of the executive departments would be permitted to participate in debates in the halls of congress is being considered with a possibility of action at the next session.
Such a reform would be the first great departure from the original theory of the operation of our form of government since the constitution was framed. That theory provided for three distinct branches of the government, the executive, legislative and judicial. The proposed reform would bring a limited mingling of the legislative and executive.
Two systems have been proposed to work out such a plan. The first would provide that the president or the head of each department should select from members of congress a man who would discharge the function of special representative of the particular department in congress. This would be similar to the system of parliamentary secretaries in vogue in Great Britain and many other countries. The man chosen would occupy two positions. He would be a member of the house or perhaps the senate, and would also be parliamentary secretary for some department. Half his time would be spent on departmental business and half on purely congressional business. His chief function would be a mingling of the two; that is, he would handle in congress the affairs of the department to which he would be assigned.
It is not likely that this system will be adopted as an amendment to the constitution would be required to put it into effect. The constitution occupies no other government positions. There is also a statute which provides that no person may draw two or more salaries from the government if their aggregate exceeds $2500.
A more likely system suggested provides that congress by special act permit either the heads of the departments or their representatives to occupy seats and take part in debate. Under such a system, presumably, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, for instance, would appoint Undersecretary of the Treasury Winston as parliamentary secretary for the treasury. Mr. Winston would attend sessions of congress and committee meetings whenever any legislation affecting that department or even affecting any appropriations of money should be under consideration.
Many advantages are declared by proponents of the plan to reside in it. It is pointed out that under the present system members of congress are not in possession of the information they should have regarding the functioning of the executive departments. Former Secretary of Commerce Redfield, who also was previously a member of the house of Representatives, in his recent book, "With Congress and Cabinet," says:
"The halls of congress are not a source of accurate knowledge concerning the government."
The point is made that frequently congress refuses appropriations for important work because it does not understand the situation. Were a representative of the affected department on hand during debate on the measure he could briefly explain the work and straighten out the whole matter. This is an age of congressional investigation. It is contended that often one of the houses of congress will go through the process of adopting formal resolutions asking for information on some subject when, were a representative of the department involved present, the whole matter could be disposed of in ten or fifteen minutes, saving the time and money of both congress and the department.

Adventures In The Library

WOODROW WILSON AS A LITERARY CRITIC
The late Woodrow Wilson has so often been portrayed as a man of abstractions that it is interesting to get a self-portrait of him in the days when the eyes of the world had not yet been focused upon him. It is, of course, not true that his mind was not in touch with the concrete things of life, though many a politician who was always spouting about "liberty and justice" accused him of that. His very last words, "I'm a piece of broken machinery," strongly illustrated the concrete character of his mental life.
Under the date line of 1896, long before he had ever been thought of by anyone except perhaps himself as a possible future president, he published a series of essays under the title "Mere Literature". The phrase of the title appears in quotes because the essay is a protest against the condescension of the words; he calls the scientific age "the irrelevant invention of the scientific age." The title essay and the others in the collection show that Wilson was far from being merely a closet student, that he went consciously to life for the material of his scholarship.
"MERE LITERATURE"
Socalled scholars love to deprecate literature as being merely ornamental. They spend 30 years perhaps finding out how many times Virgil uses the dative case and then they condescendingly refer to the poetry of Virgil as "mere literature." Or they give their lives to figuring out from the records what the direction and velocity of the prevailing winds were in the time of William the Silent and contentiously call Motley's "Dutch Republic" "mere literature."
These examples are not very fantastic. Much scholarship is of that order. John Addington Archer reproached Robert Louis Stevenson for not putting in his time editing Greek plays, which was scholarship, instead of writing stories and poems himself, which was "mere literature."

Wilson protests against this attitude. His thesis is that literature is life and that scholarship is of value only and can become alive only through the help of literature. He is too much of a scholar himself and too well informed to deprecate scholarship as many defenders of the arts have done. Scholarship is extremely valuable, he declares, but it remains a dead mass, of little value, until that quality of the human mind that gives rise to "mere literature" breathes the spirit of life into it and makes it available for the race.
NEEDS LIFE
"Colorless, or without suffusion of light from some source of light, (scholarship) is dead, and will not twice be looked at; but made part of the life of a great mind, subordinated, absorbed, put forth with authentic stamp of currency on it, minted at some definite mint and bearing some sovereign image, it will even outlast the time when it shall have escaped to deserve the acceptance of scholars—when it shall, in fact, have become "mere literature."
Woodrow Wilson was a college professor as the time he wrote and published these essays. He knew that the colleges were full of scholars who excited grammar above the spirit of great poetry, philology above living literature. He entered a strong protest against that attitude and made an attempt to place first things first. It would have been easier to go with the stream but Wilson even in these days was more interested in life than in the mere mechanics of living.
The reading of these early essays of Wilson, written at a time when there was no suspicion of what the future held in store for him, is a peculiarly interesting adventure, a revelation of the mind of the man who in one of the most difficult periods of the world's history had the attention of the world as perhaps no other man has had it.
Though the subject is far removed from politics, the treatment of it proves that his mind was not by any means the machine for turning out abstractions that his enemies said it was. It was most vividly alive and living in the present.
The book, as reprinted in 1924 and is available to all who are interested in this earlier Wilson.

Q. Did the Germans form a socialist government? M. H.
A. After the collapse of the German Empire in the fall of 1918, the government was taken over by the Council of Peoples' Commissioners in Berlin. Thert and Scheidemann became the leaders of the new Socialist Republic of Germany. Germany had a for a long time led the Socialist Movement of the world in literature. In the press and in the number of votes represented in the legislature.
Q. In what was Adam de la Hale noteworthy? F. T.
A. This musician was "singer" to the Count D' Artois, 1240-1256. Adam de la Hale is said to have remodeled the Pastourelle into a complete musical drama and thus have made the first crude attempt at comic opera. He is also deserving of special attention because of his efforts to establish polyphony in part composition.
Q. How many women are there in parliament? B. McG.
A. Four women were elected to the house of Commons on November 3 and will take their seats when the Parliament convenes. They are Lady Astor, Duchess of Atholl, Mrs. Hilda Phillips, and Miss E. Watkins.

Program At Meeting Of Woman Club

A delightful program was presented at the general meeting of Appleton Woman's club Thursday afternoon, following a noon luncheon. Miss Ruth McKennan, head of the high school dramatics department, read "The Gay Old Dog," by Edna Ferber, with great success, and followed it with "Mon Fierro" by Wallace Bruce Ambury. Several songs were sung by Mrs. Fred Bendt, accompanied by Miss Evelyn Travers. Violin solos were played by Miss Lorna O'Neil. General reports of all departments and activities of the club were given by department chairmen at the business meeting. An account of the new county department and the Business and Professional Woman's club, recently organized, was given by Miss Lucy Helen Pearson, general director of the club. Miss Pearson announced that she had received a letter from Mrs. John Sherman, saying that a series of valuable articles on the American home are to appear in the Christian Science Monitor. Mrs. Sherman is president of the General Federation of Women's club, with offices at Washington, D. C. The papers in which these articles appear may be secured by notifying the club. Mrs. Sherman has written a series of articles on the American home, which will appear in "The Woman's Home Companion," starting with a summer issue. Articles of a similar nature will appear in "The Country Gentleman." The council of the General Federation of Women's clubs will be held the first part of June at West Baden, Ind. The next luncheon meeting of Appleton Woman's club probably will be held about April 22.

Big Group Of Women Attend Cooking Class

About 100 women attended the cooking demonstration at Appleton Woman's club Thursday night, conducted by the St. Elizabeth club. WAUPACA SIGNERS REQUESTING VOTE ON FIRE EQUIPMENT

Lack of Facilities and Speed Believed by Public to Be Serious Hazard

Special to Post-Crescent.
Waupaca—Wednesday a petition was being circulated in the city, asking the council to submit the question of the purchase of additional equipment for the fire department not to exceed $5,000 at the spring election. Many are of the opinion that the protection at the outskirts of the city is inadequate and that a high power motortruck equipped with pumping apparatus and chemical tanks is needed. More speed is also in demand in reaching long distance fires. Many times the fire teams are a long distance from the fire department's headquarters at the same time an alarm is sounded which causes long and dangerous delays in reaching the scene of a fire, it is said. Fifteen percent of the voters' signatures is necessary to bring this before the people at election. Those circulating the petition are meeting with much success in securing the number of signatures required.

A novel game of basketball was played at the high school Wednesday evening. The seniors challenged the faculty and underclassmen. More fun was enjoyed by all those participating than in any other contest put on this year. At the end of the game the score figured up 37 for the seniors, and the faculty and underclassmen 12. However, that does not begin to tell the story of the struggle of those who opposed the senior enforcements to aid the faculty numbered about 25. Douglas played a star game for the faculty. He was a regular star in other days. Watson and Pauts carried the burden in rolling up the 12 points. Cartwright, Morey, Lear, Danielson, Johnson and Flagg performed for the upper classmen.

A change of business partners was effected Wednesday. The firm of Quimby and Olson, dealers in coal and wood dissolved. Marion Olson retired from the business and Bert Quimby took William Johnson, 536 W. Fulton-st., into partnership. The firm is now known as Quimby and Johnson, continuing business at the same location, 401 Mill-st.

Curling was resumed at the curling association's covered rink Wednesday night. A short delay was experienced on account of the soft condition of the ice. The bonspiel is now being played and games are run off in rapid succession so as to complete the schedule before the weather spoils the ice entirely.

Since the cold period at the first of the month the city water works department has encountered many frozen places in the city water system. The condition is due to the lack of snow, which has been very light this winter. Most of the frozen places are thawed out by the use of steam, though in many parts electricity has to be resorted to in order to reach the section frozen.

Wrestling fans will probably have an opportunity to witness a match between lightweights if plans of the promoters materialize. An effort is being made to bring Pat Macintosh, state champion, here to meet some worthy man of his weight. This match is to be put on next week in the wrestling come to terms. The week following, the heavyweights will grapple again. Hills to take on one of the topnotchers of the day.

Announcements and complete plans for the match will be given out at the time of the lightweight match next week.

Tells the Truth About RUSSIA!

A HUNDRED and twenty-eight millions of fear-ridden human beings under the iron heel of the Soviet—in a land bereft of hope and religion—a land that is in reality an immense laboratory for experiments in despotism—befogged with fumes of hatred and pestilence—a laboratory whose floor is slippery with blood.

This is the subject of which Fannie Hurst writes from actual observation on her recent trip into Russia. She reveals, for the first time, the unvarnished truth—free from the all seeing censorship of the Soviet. The first article appears next Sunday in The Milwaukee Journal Magazine Section. Watch for it.

J. C. Penney Co., Markow Style Show

Exhibits Many Attractive Creations to Big Audiences

Appleton took on a real Metropolitan air Monday and Tuesday nights with the presentation of the J. C. Penney Co.-Markow Fashion Revue staged at Fisher's Appleton Theatre as a prologue to Gloria Swanson's latest picture "Manhandled." The Revue which was unusually pleasing was well received.

The changes of costume from the large stocks of the J. C. Penney Co. and from Markow's Millinery were put on in four cleverly arranged showings which were a source of entertainment aside from providing an opportunity for Appleton women to become familiar with the advance styles.

Never were styles more beautiful or materials more gorgeous than are offered this season for the feminine world to select from as given in this delightful showing. The men's suits, topcoats, hats and shoes presented the correct garments for this spring season and added the masculine element to the stage setting and revue.

The Millinery shown by Markow featured the same line of hats shown at the Chicago Fashion Review, presented in the New Million Dollar Rainbow Gardens, Feb. 2 to 15th, 1925.

The display talents of the J. C. Penney Co. employees was to excellent advantage in constructing the stage setting and twenty-three foot runways extending out from each side of the stage. Beautiful lighting effects were erected by the Langstadt-Meyer Co. Special music by Meliorinda S. Place Orchestra. Twelve beautiful local women and three young men acted as mannequins.

NO IMPORTATIONS
The garments shown were not imported for this show to be returned later. They were all purchased for the J. C. Penney Company's regular stock. All the shoes worn were from their shoe department and the Millinery was from Markow.

Radio Luring Americans Back To Homes They Left At Call Of Automobiles

"Radio is rapidly changing our lives and habits as a nation," says Roger W. Babson, the statistician, who sees more than entertainment or even education in the millions of radio receiving sets scattered throughout America.

The great basic Law of Action and Reaction which governs our social and economic world is seen once more in the development of radio broadcasting and reception," he says. "Emerson called it the Law of Compensation. Nature employs it to keep things in balance. America has always been more home-loving at some times than at others.

"The coming of the automobile changed our lives. Quick and relatively easy transportation widened our horizons. We had held pretty much within a radius of five miles; suddenly our individual world is expanded to a radius of fifty miles. Our daily world has been increased tremendously and we changed our habits of life to take advantage of our broadened horizons. Our social business and economic lives have almost had to be built all over again to meet these changes. The small town lost trade to the cities because it became easy to drive twenty-five miles to the store offering better assortment and besides it was fun to drive. To offset this in part the farmer is now selling his vegetables and fruit from the roadside stand without recourse to the ordinary channels of distribution. The oil, steel, and plate glass industries have benefited directly, while street railways, shoes and certain other industries have suffered either from the fact that the automobile competed with them directly or changed people's habits so they no longer bought so much of certain products.

"The most revolutionary change, however, came in our habit of life. Business conditions are changing constantly, new industries are coming in, old ones are fading out; the risks involved in these changes are a part of the uncertainty that every business man and every investor must assume. But when some development comes along that threatens to change our whole American life and the foundations upon which it rests—the matter should not be passed over without careful examination. The automobile did just this for it took us out of our homes. I do not argue the relative advantage or disadvantage of the change but the widening of our horizons, the increasing of our individual world to several times their previous size, naturally left the home a smaller and less important part of our lives. The country club has come and the outdoor life has made us a healthier nation but the home has shrunk to a point of way station where we stop momentarily to change clothes and grab a bite to eat between trips. Actually we spend less than half the time at home that we used to. I am referring to those few hours between work and sleep when we live with our families and friends—where we recreate—when we should enjoy an evening's leisure surrounded by the beauty and comfort of our own homes. Lately we haven't had much time for this sort of thing; too busy to stop and think. Much activity with questionable progress. Some students insist that the American mind and the American home are going to pieces in this hectic age. Perhaps they are right. I do not know. "It is certain, though, as we have come to spend less time in our homes we have spent less time and less money in developing them and making them attractive. We spend every year $17 per capita for gasoline and only $14 for furniture. At the end of the year the gasoline is gone.

"As the situation has become more serious—as congestion on highways has begun to rob motoring of its fun—nature seems to have taken a hand in the matter. Radio is developed and as the automobile took us away from our homes the radio is bringing us back. Good music, education, the world's greatest speakers, entertainment par excellence in infinite variety, awaiting your command in the cabinet below the loud speaker, are competing successfully with the movies and the boulevard. We are beginning to stay home again and a few quiet evenings with good music is assuring millions of Americans that they have been missing something that is very much worth while. "Radio with its magic is working a social revolution. The home is growing once more as we value it more highly and spend more time and thought on it. The American home promises to become an even finer and more beautiful institution than it has been in times past when we have been proud as a home-loving nation."

STAGE And SCREEN

APPLETON THEATRE
A varied program is in treat for Appleton Theatre-goers at Fischers Appleton theatre this Sunday. Heading the vaudeville bill is the Marino Revue. The company of the Marino Revue consist of two singers of more than usually good voices and two dancers who certainly have the art down fine. The curtain rises first on a Gypsy campfire with the company grouped around it in picturesque attitude. The Gay Bohemian music with tambourines and castanets, wild gypsy dances in couples and ensemble make up the act. Again the curtain rises and the atmosphere is that of gay Paris. The leading lady is stunningly gowned like a star of the Comedie Francaise. The dancers appear in an act of dance of beautiful poses and graceful movements. Leoni & Leoni will present a comedy aerial act, which will be a change from the past few weeks programs in that it is the first act of this nature for many weeks. Dorothy Douglas & Co. in a Comedy singing and piano skit and Bert Lennon will deliver monologue which went over so big at the Palace last week. On the same program we have the return to the screen of Charles Ray in the role which made him famous.

"SO THIS IS MARRIAGE" OFFERS GLIMPSE OF OLD JERU- SALEM

A glimpse of the Jerusalem of King David's time, is afforded in "So This Is Marriage," Hobart Henley's second production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which is showing at the Elite for the last time tonight. While the story concerns the experiences of a modern young couple, an interlude in natural color photography is used to illustrate the Bible story of how Bath-Sheba betrayed her husband through the desire for David, and of the punishment meted out by God.

CAMERA MEN DEFY DANGER FOR MOVIE

It required daring as well as technical skill to film J. K. McDonald's forthcoming First National picture, "Frivolous Sal." The exterior scenes were staged in the region of Mount Rainier, Washington, and at times the camera men were compelled to make their "shots" from lofty and dangerous precipices. To Chester A.

Heart Trouble or Indigestion?

Heartburn, Pressure Around Heart, Palpitation, A Feeling of Fullness, Shortness of Breath

THIS SIMPLE 3-MINUTE TEST TELLS WHAT'S WRONG

While there are many people who really have Heart Trouble, there are many thousands more who are literally "scared to death" because they think they have it.

To live in constant fear of Heart Failure is a terrible handicap, especially when probably 90 per cent of the self-diagnosed "Bad Heart" symptoms—Palpitation, shortness of breath, difficult breathing, a feeling of fullness or pressure around the Heart—are mainly caused by a sour, gassy, upset stomach. To prove that this is true and that your past worries have been a sad mistake—simply make this three-minute test and watch results!

From any good druggist obtain a couple ounces of pure Bismarated Magnesia (either powder or tablets) and beginning with tomorrow take a teaspoonful of the powder or four tablets immediately after each meal—and, if the usual distressing symptoms fail to appear, you may safely rest assured that you have found your trouble.

This is a pleasant, inexpensive test that seldom fails to relieve stomach distress, Gas, Sourness and Bloating—almost instantly, and a single trial proves its value! Be sure and ask Bismarated Magnesia, not a laxative. adv.

Lyons and George Richter, veteran cinematographers, go the credit for the beautiful scenic effects obtained. The picture, unfolding a dramatic love story of the swashbuckling West, will be shown at the Elite Theatre Saturday and Sunday. Eugene O'Brien and Mae Busch have the leading roles.

THRILL A SECOND IN WILLIAM FOX NEW MELODRAMA

As was announced and expected, "The Cyclone Rider," which opened at the New Bijou theatre last night for a three day run, is an incomparable thriller. By the same author and producer, Lincoln J. Carter and William Fox, respectively, who were responsible for "The Arizona Express" and "The Eleventh Hour," it safely clinches their right to claim the leadership in turning out melodramas with a "kick."

There is "punch" in every foot in "The Cyclone Rider." The first night audience, it seemed, held their breath throughout the showing, for the spontaneous applause that greeted the final thrill fairly shook the theatre.

It has no rival when one considers the ever-increasing speed of action as the story unfolds, displaying hair-raising escapes and the daring of the young hero, James Kent, while winning the love of his sweetheart, Doris Howard. The leading characters are played by Reed Howes, Alma Bennett, William Bailey, Margaret McGuire, Charles Conklin, Ben Deely, Frank Deal and Evelyn Brent. There is an automobile spill during the big motor race said to be one of the most realistic ever filmed.

Happiness Must Be Earned

More Real Comfort from My Heating Plant

At right, the five-year comfort warranty given with each Home Furnace. Below, a sectional view of the Home Furnace. The Hot Blast Ring is pierced with 1/4-inch openings, through which hot oxygen pours into the smoke AT THE FIRE LINE. The smoke is thus burned and a clean, hot flame floods the entire heating dome.

The HOME HOT BLAST FURNACE

ONE reason for the great popularity of the Home Hot Blast Furnace among its thousands upon thousands of satisfied users is its fool-proof hot blast attachment. This is a device which increases home comfort by feeding superheated oxygen into every Home Furnace just at the fire line.

Your Furnace Needs a Real Hot Blast Attachment. Many people do not consider that a large proportion of all fuels is smoke. The proportion of smoke to the solid part varies in different fuels. It often runs as high as 50% or even higher.

This smoke is really unburned fuel. Letting it go up the chimney is equivalent to throwing away coal. And, besides, this unburned fuel soon coats the heating surfaces of the furnace with a layer of soot which greatly impairs its heating capacity. So that, as time goes on, more and still more fuel must be burned in the effort to keep warm.

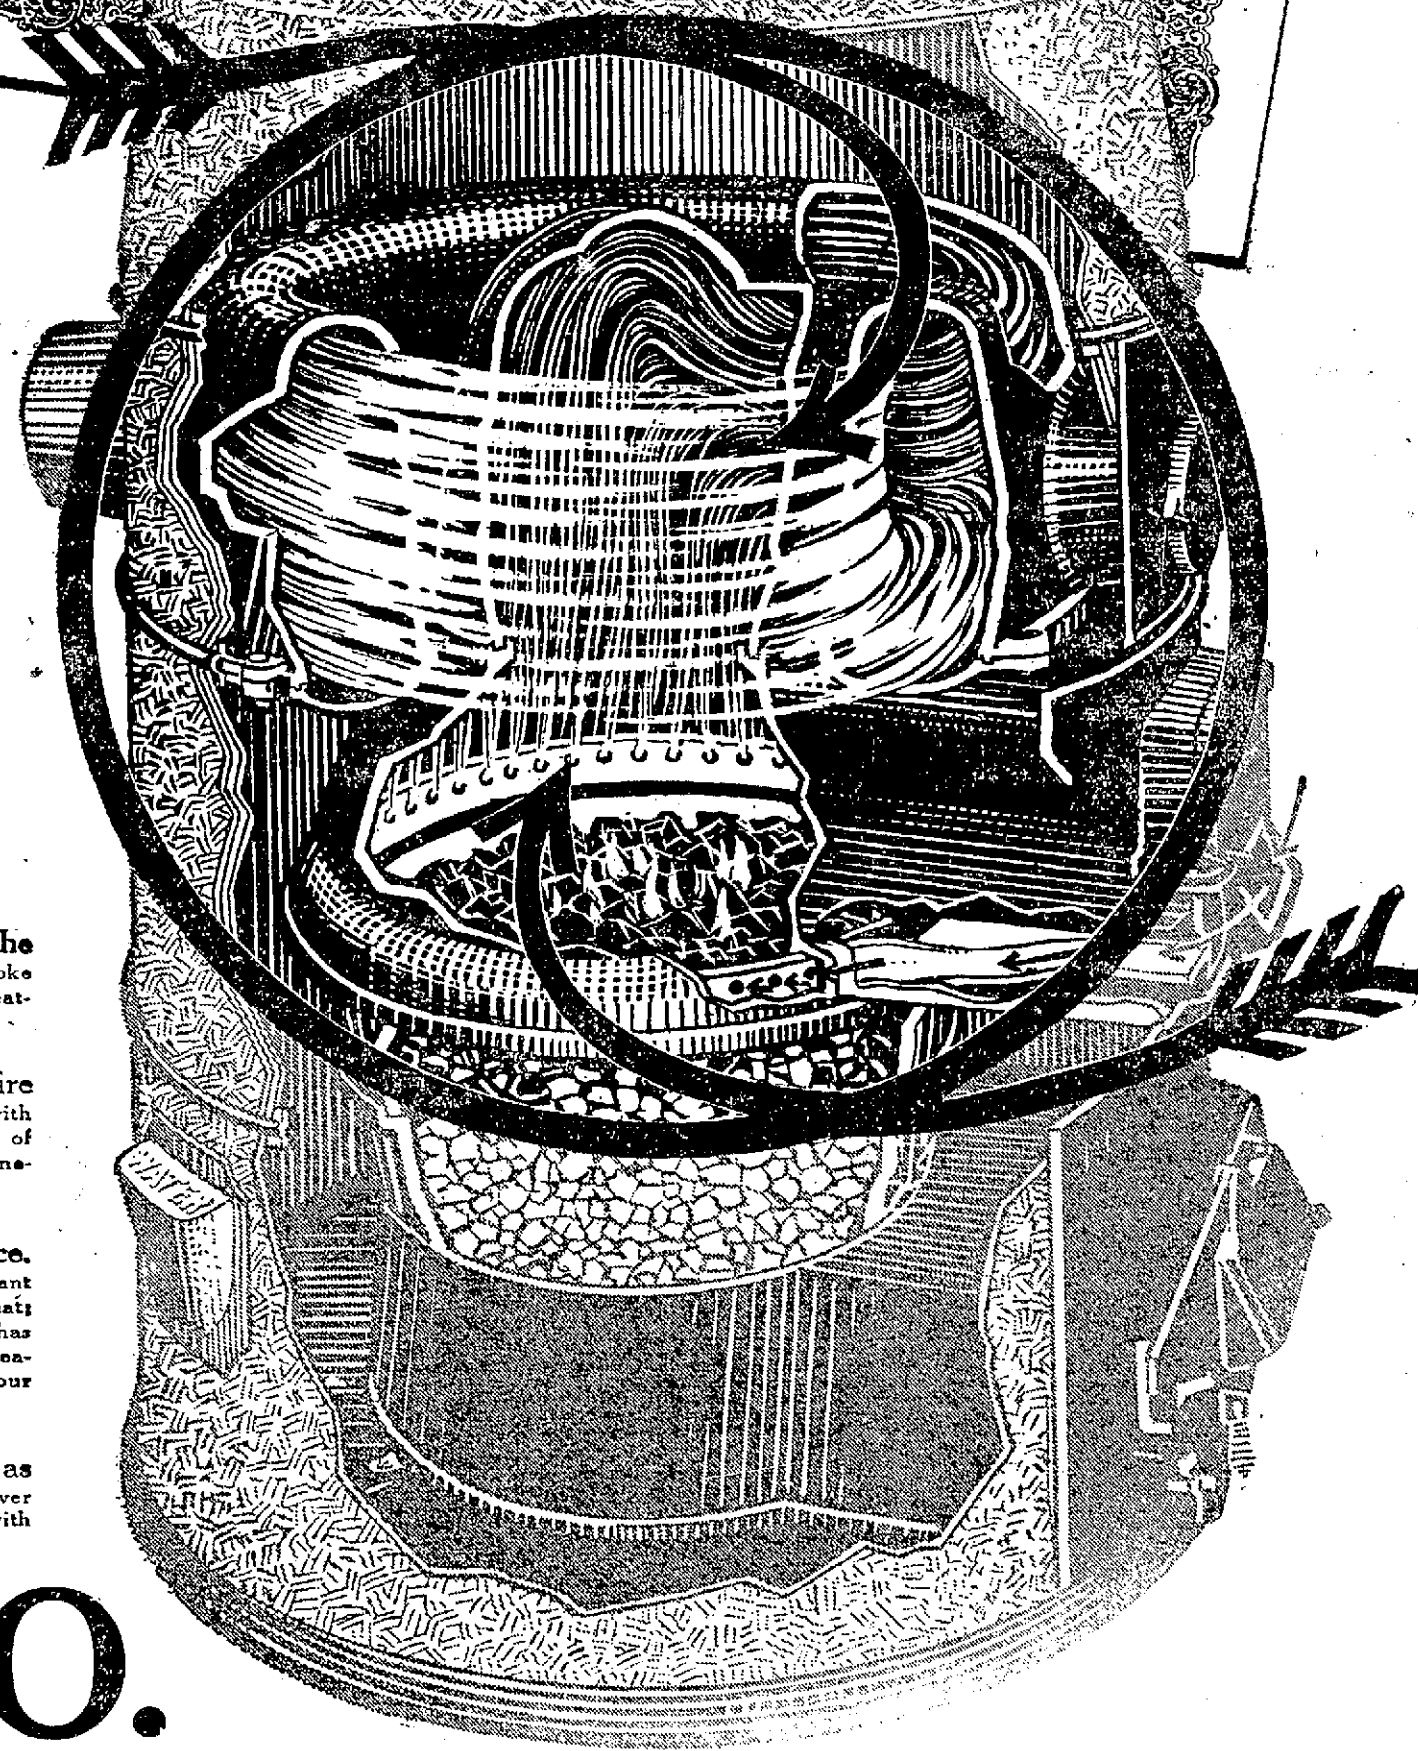

The Home Furnace Hot Blast is a Real Fuel Saver and Comfort Maker. It introduces superheated oxygen through a wonderful, damperless door and ring. This ring is attached to the fire pot, and is pierced by 65 quarter-inch openings. The fresh, hot oxygen pours through these openings just at the fire line. In other words, at the very place where smoke begins, the oxygen is introduced to burn it.

This heated oxygen mixes with the smoke before it leaves the combustion chamber. As soon as the proper mixture is obtained, the smoke takes fire from the burning coal; and a clean, hot flame floods the entire heating dome and radiator.

More Real Comfort in Your Home. Open quickly the fire door of any Home Hot Blast Furnace, and you'll find the dome filled with yellow (or blue) flame, depending upon the fuel. In other words, a sheet of fire is in direct contact with the clean heating surfaces; and savings of one-fourth to one-third of the fuel bill are not uncommon.

Four More Reasons Why You Should Own a Home Furnace. (1) The Home Hot Blast Furnace is backed by years of actual heating plant experience. (2) It is factory-installed. (3) It is factory-guaranteed to heat and (4) We give you a written warranty that the Home Furnace which has become a part of your house will keep you cozy for at least five whole seasons. You know beforehand that you will have more real comfort from your Home Heating Plant than you have ever enjoyed before.

ROHAN OUTLINES SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION PLAN

MISS MORGAN TO BE RETAINED AS HEAD OF OFFICE

Superintendent-Elect Urges Strong Music Courses in Public Schools

Miss Carrie Morgan, superintendent of Appleton schools for 31 years, will be retained in the Appleton school organization as assistant superintendent if the board of education accepts the administration plan submitted by Ben F. Rohan, superintendent-elect. Miss Morgan's duties in Mr. Rohan's plan, would include those of purchasing agent, chief of free clerk and to assist in educational work. She would have charge of purchasing supplies for the high schools and the districts. This plan, according to Mr. Rohan, would free him of considerable detail and would allow him to give his entire time to the organization and administration of educational affairs.

MEETS UNION SYSTEM

In general, Mr. Rohan's plan outlines almost completely with the union schools system. The superintendent would have charge of the educational affairs and business management of all the schools in the city under the direction of the school board. The senior high school and the junior high schools would be under the immediate charge of their respective principals, who would be under the direction of the superintendent. Mr. Rohan would have immediate charge of the First, Second and Third districts, while the Fourth ward school would be under the direct supervision of the Fourth ward junior high school principal, under the direction of the superintendent. Vice principals of the grade schools would be teaching principals. The only change from their present work would be an additional responsibility for discipline among teachers and pupils. In seeing to promptness on the part of teaching staffs in administrative work, the vice principals would be supported by the superintendent, under the plan, who would be in a position to pay attention to these details. In the Fourth ward, Mr. Rohan plans to permit Frank Younger, the principal there to attend to this work.

CONTINUE MUSIC

The superintendent suggests in his plan that music be continued in the senior high school under the direction of a man capable of taking care of choral and instrumental instruction. Mr. Rohan did not mention a full time band instructor because he feared the situation too uncertain to warrant the expense at this time. Therefore he suggested that the teacher in charge of choral and instrumental instruction be placed in charge of the high school band also. A musical instructor and an assistant were recommended for the junior high schools. The instructor must be a man capable of handling boys of adolescent age. Mr. Rohan said, and a student of problems peculiar to this age. The instructor would teach the boys' classes and his assistant the girls. No plan was in sight to get band instruments for the junior high schools, where Mr. Rohan suggested that pupils who have instruments of their own be enrolled in the band and given instruction.

In the grade schools, the plan provided that classroom teachers would teach music in addition to their other subjects under the direction of a competent leader. The leader would make plans and call monthly meetings to impart his plans to the teachers. Teachers in charge of music at the junior high schools were suggested as leaders of grade school music. Drawing for all districts would be under the direction of an art teacher who might be employed part time in one of the junior high schools, under arrangement similar to that which would apply to the musical program in the junior high schools. Work in manual training in all the high schools might be coordinated. Mr. Rohan suggests, by making definite plans for courses in all the schools. Mr. Rohan recommended that manual training and sewing courses be dropped from the curriculum in the fifth and sixth grades and that the time thus gained be devoted to project work.

LAPSED POLICIES MAY BE REINSTATED UNTIL JUNE 7

According to an announcement by Alfred C. Boser, secretary of the American Legion, veterans of the World war who have allowed their war risk insurance to lapse may renew their policies until June 7, 1925. Policyholders who still are carrying the insurance in its original form will be until June, 1926 to convert it to any of the following forms of government insurance. Ordinary life, a and 30 year payment life, 20 and a year endowment life and endowment at the age of 62.

"Little Brown House" Is Mecca For Badger Lovers

Many Appleton couples have visited the little brown house in Menominee which is celebrated for the many marriages performed there. It is the home of John B. Jones, Menominee's marrying justice, who claims to have married 6,568 persons all of whom with their accompanying 6,568 witnesses or attendants—and in many instances those to be married brought many friends with them—have united in various expressions of happiness.

Magistrate Jones has married young folks running away from parents and old folks running away from their children. He has married people from every state in the union, from Syria, Italy, Cape Town, South Africa, Hawaiian Islands, Alaska and other far away lands, but by far the greater part of his business comes from Wisconsin, especially the Fox River valley.

BASHFUL SWAINS

He has many tales to tell of strange marriages he has performed and he is experienced with young people. Frequently couples are so bashful, Mr. Jones declares, that they are actually dismayed at asking to be married. Just recently he says, a young couple from Menasha wandered about the streets two hours before mustering up the courage to ask for a marriage license. He knows of one couple that returned home unmarried because they were too abashed to make inquiries. Later the young man wrote to Mr. Jones explaining his predicament and the latter calmed the young couple's fears.

AFRAID OF CHILDREN

The oldest couple he married were 75 and 76 years, respectively. They had run away from their children to be married and were very secretive about it all. After the ceremony was over and the excitement had died away, the aged couple sat around for hours trying to decide what to do. They were afraid to go back home.

Frequently Mr. Jones receives little remuneration for performing the ceremony. Sometimes he is told to "charge it" with a promise to send the money later on. Others pay the customary fee of $5, some pay considerably less, and others he avers have paid as much as $20 for the simple service. In one case Mr. Jones not only failed to obtain a fee, but loaned a couple carfare to Green Bay.

All the world may love a lover," says Mr. Jones, "but not to the extent of continuing that affection after

APPLETON LAWYERS IN CHILTON COURT

Trial of Youths Who Escaped from Jail Listed on Court Calendar

Several lawsuits of interest to Outagamie people are included on the calendar for the March term of circuit court of Chilton, which opens at Chilton on March 16.

Among them is the suit filed by E. C. West of New London against August Wessel. New London lost its suit against Wessel because of an auto accident which occurred in the fall of 1923. The attorneys are Keller and Keller of Appleton and Nash, Nash and Levia of Manitowish.

Keller and Keller also are interested in the divorce case of Outil Haese and Robert F. Haese of Forest Junction, who are known here. Another suit that is to come up during this term is the action of Nic J. Weber against Edward Beckman of Centerville who is suing for payment for storing furniture.

The trial of Anton Kerscher, Carl Chivinton and Clarence Keim charged with enticing girls for immoral purposes, also is on the calendar, but there is no chance for a hearing inasmuch as the young men escaped from the Chilton jail about Aug. 19, after their arrest on July 11. The trio was arrested by Appleton police about midnight July 11 after they had induced two young women, Miss Selma Abraham and Miss Leone Reed of New London to ride home from Waverly beach in their auto.

a marriage which has not been paid for.

As to the general average outcome of marriages he has performed, Mr. Jones declares that he is satisfied that marriage is a success. By far the greater number of couples he has married are included among the happily wed. And since Mr. Jones performs one-third of the marriages which take place in Menominee, he may be considered an authority.

How to Banish Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Physician Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it is because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, Schlitz Bros. and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today.

AMERICAN LEGION WILL GIVE $1,500 IN ESSAY CONTEST

Outagamie Children Invited to Take Part in National Competition

Cash prizes totalling $1,500 silver and bronze medals and a certificate of merit will be awarded by the American Legion to winners in a national essay contest for American school children. (Girls and boys between the ages of 12 and 18 years inclusive are eligible to compete. Essays are to be 500 words or less in length and must be written on the following subject: "Why has the American Legion, an organization of veterans of the World war, dedicated itself first of all, to uphold and defend the constitution of the United States of America?"

The contest is planned to further interest in patriotism, a knowledge of public institutions and to foster higher education for the younger generation.

County superintendents of schools have been requested to select three judges, whose duty it will be to select the best essays in their counties.

mobile. They took them to a lonely spot and one of them displaying a gun while the attempt was made to lure them into the woods. The girls escaped with the assistance of a passing autoist and managed to get word to Appleton police. The boys were taken to Chilton and about a month later they broke out of jail and have been in hiding since.

BLICK REPORTS ON LABOR ATTITUDE ON TAX BILLS

Appleton Trades and Labor council met Wednesday evening in the council rooms and heard the report of Michael Blick on the legislative conference held at Madison on Feb. 27.

After hearing the report they enjoyed a social at which luncheon was served. Mr. Blick reported that labor favors taking educational provisions out of the home rule bill and is opposed to the homestead exemption clause in the tax bills now before the legislature. He also reported that provision had been made to permit laboring men to profit by the summer course at the University of Wisconsin.

The Americanism officer of the county will cooperate with the judges and the superintendents. Essays chosen as the best in the various counties will be forwarded to department Americanism chairman of the American Legion, who will cooperate with the state superintendent of schools in choosing state winners. These will receive silver and bronze medals as a certificate of merit as first, second and third prizes respectively. National winners will be chosen by the national Americanism director of the American Legion.

All essays must be in the hands of the official designated by the county superintendent of schools not later than midnight of June 1, 1925.

Do Women Dress Just To Please Men?

BY CYNTHIA GREY

Why do women wear fine clothes? Is it to attract men? Or to make other women admire and envy them?

The question has never been answered. It is still one of the dark mysteries of this world of ours.

The South Sea Islander, no doubt, puzzles his woolly head over it when the village women dance forth from their huts with red hibiscus flowers behind their ears, and new strawed-wheat skirts around their slim waists.

And the North American, of course, is just as baffled when his wife sends three hats home on approval, and tries them on for hours at a time!

For everywhere women spend half their time and most of their pin money on the "ladies game" of dressing.

And women do "dress"....whereas men only clothe themselves. There is a difference!

For "dressing" means clothes that not only cover the body but express the soul and empty the pocketbook. Men's drab clothes never do that.

Men can understand the sheer spiritual uplift that comes to a woman when she knows that she is looking her best....when she knows that the facing of her hat and the color of her scarf bring out the fairness of her skin.

Nor can they appreciate her savage triumph when she sees other women priding her clothes....envying her!

And I wonder if they ever realize how big a part clothes play in the romance of life. For a woman who is a little brown vren in a serge suit can become a modern goddess in a dress that becomes her....particularly if she knows it is becoming. For then she "feels pretty" in it. And the woman who feels that way usually is!

In Joseph Hergeshelm's "Cynthia" is the hero who meets the heroine for the first time without noticing her, hardly.

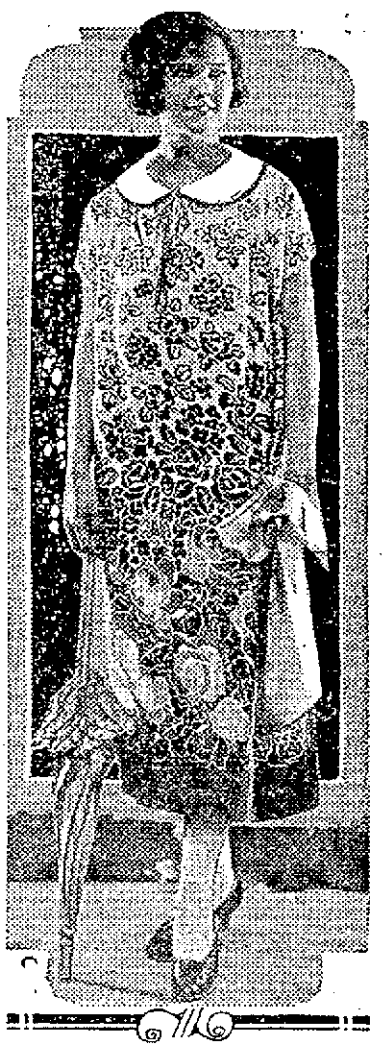

"She was dressed for the street in a light brown suit, rigidly simple," the writer explains this phenomenon.

But the next time he sees the lady he falls madly in love with her! He really looks at her for the first time....and sees that she is beautiful.

"She was dressed in gray, a gown cut away from the shoulders, with a light brown suit, rigidly simple," the writer explains this phenomenon.

But the next time he sees the lady he falls madly in love with her! He really looks at her for the first time....and sees that she is beautiful.

Printed Silks

This summer frock illustrates the possibilities of printed and bordered silk. Such a dress requires very little sewing and is quite finished when it has an organdie collar and a sash. The color scheme here is unusual. The material is black and white and the sash is a lovely sapphire blue.

McTangle

With Jack and Karl came dad's lawyer, and we all assembled in the library to hear the will read. At this time Alice made her first appearance among us since she had returned from the funeral. Poor child, she looked as though she had had a serious illness, and I felt so sorry for her that I went up and put my arms around her.

I haven't told you, Ruth, that we had quite a disturbance when Karl and Alice first arrived, and Jack told her that father had made him his executor and manager of the plant. Of course, after everything else, the quarrel got back to the pearls, and I gave them back to her and told Karl before Jack and Alice, that I could not keep my promise to him: that I had never been happy with them, and could never again wear them, knowing how Alice felt about them.

So you see I have gotten out of at least one thing that might bring me discord and unhappiness, but I'm somewhat afraid that I've only passed them with all their dire import over to Alice and Karl; for Karl reproved Alice before us all, and it nearly broke her heart.

She was very subdued through the long legal announcements made by the lawyer in reading the will. It was exactly as Jack had told us, except that it was couched in legal phrases. Dad gave to mother for life the income from his entire real estate; and a third of the income from his personal property and investments as long as she should live. The income from the other two-thirds is to be divided equally between Alice, myself, and little John, and John is made executor without bond.

Both of us started when this item was read, and Jack turned pale, for dad had not told him that part of his bequest. I thought at first Alice was going to remonstrate, but Karl put his hand gently over hers and she was silent.

At the death of mother, her share is to be divided equally between Alice and me.

It's a strange thing, Ruth dear, how destiny has worked out the fate of little Jack. I am exceedingly glad that my father loved the boy well enough to insure his education and start in life, whatever any one else might do for him. Each day, now, as I know that another child is coming to me, my love grows greater for the boy I chose. I love him for my husband's sake; I love him in spite of my husband's sin. I love him because I chose him out of the world of little homeless and motherless ones, and I think I can say that that is as great a love as a mother has even for a child that is hers because she bore it.

Oh, I know, a great many people will think I am crazy to say this, but nevertheless each day I find that it is true in my case. I am eagerly waiting until my other child is born to see if nature will make any difference between the child of my body and the child of my choice.

There is much more I want to tell you, Ruth. There is much to be said, of course, about the shop and other things. However, I will not come back with John immediately, as I hate to leave mother here alone. Alice at this time seems too much absorbed in her own unhappiness and

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

Breakfast—Shredded fried pineapple, baked hash, graham and raisin gems, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Creamed eggs and mushrooms on toast, fruit salad, filled cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Casserole of halibut, parsnip fritters, head lettuce with French vegetable dressing, coconut and orange puff pudding, rye rolls, milk, coffee.

The juice from the pineapple, sweetened slightly, can be given to a child of four years. If graham toast can be conveniently served to children under 10 years of age in place of the hot gems, so much the better. No cereal is suggested as the hash and buttered toast or gems with milk furnish the needed nutrients.

The creamed eggs and mushrooms would make a delicious company luncheon dish. Patty shells could be used instead of toast.

CREAMED EGGS AND MUSHROOMS ON TOAST

Four eggs, 3/4 pound mushrooms, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups milk, salt and paprika.

Cook eggs in water just below the boiling point for 30 minutes. Drop at once into cold water and let stand 10 minutes. Remove shells and cut in halves lengthwise. Melt butter in saucepan, add mushrooms cleaned and cut in small pieces and cook five minutes. Sift over flour and stir with a fork until the flour is perfectly blended. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Cook until smooth and creamy. Arrange eggs on triangles of toast and pour over sauce. Serve at once.

Do not cut bread too thick for the toast, and toast an even golden brown on both sides.

FILLED COOKIES

One egg, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup water, 2 1/2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons cream of tartar, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3/4 teaspoon salt.

Filling—3/4 cup chopped and seeded raisins, 1/2 cup chopped nut meats, 1-3 cup sugar, 1/2 cup water, 1 teaspoon flour, few grains salt.

Mix flour and sugar and salt for the filling and add to raisins and nuts. Add water and cook stirring to make smooth, until thick.

Cream butter and sugar and add well-beaten egg. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add alternately with water to first mixture. Roll on a floured molding board to not more than three-eighths inch thickness. Cut with cookie cutter first dipped in flour. Drop a teaspoonful of the cookies. Flatten and cover with remaining cookies. Press edges together and put on a floured baking sheet. Bake 12 minutes in a moderately hot oven.

CASSEROLE OF HALIBUT

Two pounds halibut, 1 cup carrots cut in matchlike pieces, 1/2 cup diced celery, 2 small onions, 4 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup stale bread crumbs 6 medium-sized potatoes, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups canned tomatoes.

Remove skin and bone from fish. Melt butter and cook the onions, cut in thin slices, and the carrots until a delicate brown. Put a layer of fish in a buttered casserole, cover with carrots, onions and celery and sprinkle with crumbs. Season with salt and pepper and pour over part of the tomatoes. Continue layer for layer until all is used. Put the potatoes, cut in quarters, on top. Cover dish and bake one hour in a moderate oven. If too dry, add a few tablespoons boiling water.

Serve from the casserole.

New Footwear Elaborate And Much Decorated

Paris—Fantastic looking shoes are being made by the fashionable Paris bootmakers, and naturally, the prices will be high. Not only are rich brocades and carved and colored leathers and all sorts of imitation jewels to be used, but real seed pearls are prescribed for those who would be distinctive.

ELABORATE CUTOUTS

The custom shoemakers are also trying out a symmetrical design, in which one side of the shoe is cut very low while the other side is shaped differently, with a strap covering only one side. There are also many elaborate cutout designs, the straps always being in contrasting colors.

Some idea of what Parisian shoe houses expect of fashionable women is seen in the advertising of one of the chain-store firms, which says that the well dressed woman should have at least 12 pairs of slippers and shoes.

LUXURIOUS SHOES

Tassels, bows and even large artificial flowers are offered as decorations to vary the usual cut steel and jeweled buckles, while gem-studded heels add to the glory of the newest footwear. This richness in shoe styles has prompted one Riviera casino to plan an elevated dancing floor in the center of the dining room, so that the ankles of the dancers will be on the level with diners' eyes.

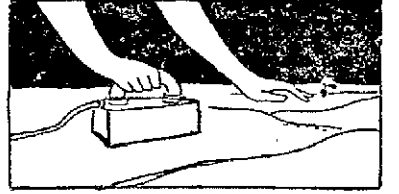

Household Hints

FRYING BACON

Before frying bacon soak it in cold water for three or four minutes to prevent the grease from running and to improve the flavor.

IRONING HINT

Iron the thinnest part of a garment first, then the part which will be least easily while the ironing is being finished. Save the fuzzy parts for the last so there will be no wrinkles.

WASH STOCKINGS

If you will wash out the feet of your silk stockings each evening when you take them off they will probably wear much longer, since perspiration rots the fabric.

LET CAKE STAND

Let a cake stand in the pan in which it is to be baked a few minutes before you put it into the oven.

CLEANING CLOTHS

Old bath towels make excellent cleaning clothes since the surface readily takes up dirt.

DREAMS

Each Has Its Own Meaning

Often the sweet strains of music can be plainly heard in dreams. It heralds for the dreamer, peace of mind in wakened hours, and success in love and business. It is a good omen to seem to be singing alone, while good times are ahead if you are singing with a group.

INTERPRETATIONS

If you see yourself making a speech, be careful of what you say; if you are listening to a speech you will soon receive advice that will be profitable if heeded.

When you see yourself quitting your job, there are two things to keep in mind: If quitting peacefully you will be successful elsewhere, to be quitting in a huff, beware of strained financial conditions.

sorrow to be of much comfort to her. However, I am going to have a talk with Jack before he returns, and then I will write you. Until then, remember dear, you are my best friend.

Safety Hints

HAMMER DOWN ALL NAILS

If you see a nail sticking out of a board, hammer it down before you or someone else steps on it. Any nail is likely to cause infection if it penetrates the skin. Death has been caused within 48 hours by nail wounds. If you step on a nail, go to a doctor at once.

New Style For Unbobbed

Milliners seem to give consideration to the bobbed head exclusively, but hairdressers occasionally have a thought for the woman with long hair. This is one of the most charming new styles, with the hair wound over the head in a very loose braid. And here's a tip. These braids are detachable and may be worn by the bobbed-haired miss herself when she wishes to have a certain pictorial quality that is impossible with short hair. It is particularly liked as a style for evening.

Health Hints

FOR SLEEPLESSNESS

Some folks fall asleep as soon as their heads touch the pillow. And sometimes it takes a team of horses almost to pull them out of bed in the morning in time for breakfast. Mrs. Mann of Anytown learned.

But, there is such a thing as insomnia. Mrs. Mann also had learned though she did not call it by that name.

Sleeplessness is what Mrs. Mann called it. When she complained to Mr. Mann that she could not sleep, he suggested that she try the smell of mint.

"Just soak a sponge in mint perfume, and place it under your pillow," he advised.

If sleeplessness is caused by mental overwork sleep can be induced by doing the following exercises 50 times:

Stand erect, rise slowly from the heels and descend slowly. This causes the blood vessels of the lower limbs to congest, relieving the brain of the excess blood.

going to sell me and I'm going to be made into pork."

And big round tears dropped out of his eyes to the ground.

"I'll give you twenty dollars for him," said the butcher.

"Good," said the farmer. "It isn't often I make so much profit on a pig."

"Oh, oh," said the little pig. "Why was I such a silly goose as to wish I was big? My appetite got the best of me."

And some more round tears fell to the ground.

The butcher paid the money to the farmer and tied a rope around piggy's neck and led him away.

But suddenly a queer thing hap-

Adventures Of The Twins

THE BUTCHER CALLS

"Oh, I'm so happy!" granted the little pig—I mean the big pig—for the Fairy Queen had waved her wand when she heard him wishing, and changed him into six times his own size.

"I'm so happy!" said the little pig again. "Just think! For dinner I had two buckets of buttermilk, and a bucket of bran and two big armfuls of clover and some corn."

"Just listen to him," said the Fairy Queen to the twins.

"I'm still partly empty," said the little pig, although to look at him you would never have thought so. He stuck out on both sides like a boiled dumpling.

"I wonder what I'm going to have for supper?" wondered the little pig.

"Oh, in a la!" said the Fairy Queen. "I'm afraid he is going to eat his head off. And I mean it. Here comes the farmer with the butcher."

"Hello, here," said the butcher. "Is this the fine fat pig you were telling me about?"

"Exactly," said the farmer. "He just grew up over night. Being young he must be very tender and juicy."

The butcher felt the little pig's sides.

"Lots of good bacon and elegant ham," he said with satisfaction. "And spareribs! And fine big buckles! And with such a big stomach there ought to be pounds of tripe!" And think of the sausages and wieners! And pickled pigs feet! I can make out of him. Yes, I'll buy him for any price you ask."

"Oink! Oink! What's this?" cried the little pig. And he tried to hold his breath and draw his sides in, so he wouldn't look so fat. "I see now why they want to feed me. They are

SCHOOL CHILDREN SHOW PROMISE IN MUSICAL PROGRAM

Grade School Youngsters Demonstrate Development of Musical Talent

More than 500 persons attended the public school demonstration given Thursday evening in Lawrence Memorial Chapel by students in the public school music department of Lawrence Conservatory of Music. A chorus of 250 boys presented several numbers under the direction of Dr. Earl Baker. Among the schools represented several numbers under the direction of Dr. Earl Baker. Among the schools represented in the boys chorus were: Lincoln, Columbus, Franklin, St. Mary and Fourth ward. The numbers they presented were: "Friendship," "Our School Will Shine," "Tenting Tonight," "The Bee," and "Stars of the Summer Night." A chorus of 100 girls from the Lincoln, Columbus and Franklin schools sang the cantata, "The Swallow," under the direction of Miss Irene Edwells. During the cantata, a solo was presented by Helen Block, a duet by Olga Pruett and Helen Snyder, and a trio composed of Betty Meyer, Evelyn Jacobs and Dorothy Rogers also sang a number. The girls did very well and the quality of tone displayed in some of the voices is promising for the future.

The grade school orchestra of students from the Lincoln, Columbus and Fourth Ward schools, opened their program with "Maiden of American Airs," followed by "Love's Greed," and Haydn's andante from the "Surprise Symphony." Most of the members of the orchestra knew nothing about playing in November, and with only ten lessons, under the direction of conservatory students, were able to handle their instruments with unusual ability.

The operetta, "Jack and the Beanstalk," was presented by the students in the public school department of Lawrence Conservatory of Music as a project work, and the parts of Jack, characterized by Katherine Jones and the Giant, played by Roger Benedict were very well done. Others taking part were: Jack's brother, Amy Polley; Madam Giant, Ruth Noble; Fairy, Evelyn Travers; butcher, Gertrude Meyer; companions of Jack: Jennie, Dorothy Peterson, Nettie, Pauline Beckwith; Robert, Louise Warner; Fannie Margaret Goude; Dick, Ruth Noble; Tom, Dorothy Worthin; Fred, Ins Knoke. The operetta was founded on the old fairy tale of the same name. The large hall, with eyes that blinked, mouth that opened and closed and legs that walked, was very lifelike. The butcher parade, was also very well done. Girls dressed as butchers marched out on the stage with large cans of beans, with a chorus singing a piece in accompaniment to their marching. The cantata was under the joint direction of Dr. Earl Baker and Miss Irene Edwells. On Friday evening at 7:30, the lower grades will appear in a musical program, to be followed by the cantata. The lower grades will show what they can do in the line of music.

The following children will take part in Friday's program:

This is Only a Story But It Has Its Moral

John D. Rockefeller's son was conversing with Henry Ford's son on Rockefeller's estate, and here is the way their conversation went:

Victor Record
No. 19586 - 75c

"O, Katharina!" — Fox Trot
"Titina" — Fox Trot

By International Novelty Orchestra

Highly unusual fox trots from European sources, with vocal refrains in dialect and a blaze of orchestration. "Katharina" is from the "Chauve-Souris" and "Titina" from "Puzzles of 1925." Dancers who are growing a bit tired of the "collegiate" will welcome these numbers as something refreshing.

2802 "Bygones"—Waltz
75c "Silver Sands of Waikiki"—Waltz
Castlewood Marimba Band

Mingled sounds and melodiousness captivate on this record. Delicate, poetic things as these whispering waltzes by the Castlewood Marimba Band. Their playing is meaningful—it is faultless and all of which accounts for the wide appeal of their records. There is that old-fashioned something in the records which the Castlewoods do, which, in this day of high-powered dance music, is by contrast, so refreshing and welcome. These records are something for the home, because they are homey. The music is sweet—almost devotional music.

APPLETON ELIMINATES NEW LONDON QUINT, 21 TO 13

Appleton, Menasha Kaukauna, Brandon Remain In Running

Kaukauna Beats West Green Bay in Feature Battle of First Day's Contests by 11 to 9 Score

THURSDAY'S SCORES
Appleton 21, New London 13
Menasha 9, Clintonville 8
Kaukauna 11, West Green Bay 9
Brandon 11, New Holstein 4
FRIDAY'S GAMES
2:30—Clintonville vs New London
7:30—Kaukauna vs Brandon
8:30—Appleton vs Menasha

In four of the closest opening battles ever played in the Lawrence district meet all of the favorites won their first games on Thursday which will long be remembered by the spectators. Brandon defeated New Holstein in a hard game by a 11 to 4 count; Kaukauna beat West Green Bay by a 11 to 9 score; Menasha was forced to go the limit to beat Clintonville, 9 to 8; Appleton was outplayed part of the game, but finally beat New London, 21 to 13.

APPLETON-NEW LONDON GAME
New London surprised the Orange quint and outplayed them the entire first half in the evening's finale. The Appleton play was weak and ragged and New London looked strong. Jilson, Red and White shooting artist, found Reetz and Voecks, his sub, right on his heels the whole game and had to be content with one field goal in the place of his usual five or six. Voecks who replaced Reetz, played an excellent defensive game, stopping the New London crew time after time under the hoop.

OTHER TOURNEYS
At Marinette—East Green Bay 83, Oconto Falls 10; Suring 40, Gillett 8; Marinette 25, Oconto 17.
At Rhinelander—Medford 35, Merrill 19; Tomahawk 15, Eagle River 10; Rhinelander 20, Marquette 13; Antigo 27, Wausau 22.
At Stevens Point—Neokoso 30, Mosinee 10; Wisconsin Rapids 15, Abbottsford 9; Wautoma 14, Marshfield 8; Stevens Point 22, Montello 16.

Bowby and Ashman netted four baskets apiece for high basket honors of the day, though the little Orange forward rang up two free tries to Ashman's one. Ashman caged only long shot of the day's play. Appleton took the lead at the quarter, edged another in the second period and another in the third. With a three-point lead at the end of the third quarter, the Kevinnens finally came through to win the game by a eight-point margin, holding Jilson and his fellows scoreless in the last period.

Huntly opened the game with a pretty basket from under the hoop but Bowby evened the score a moment later with one from under the Red and White basket. Reetz was called for guarding Jilson too well and the Edison city star made the free throw. Bowby regained Appleton's lead with a short side shot and missed two free throws on Sol's foul. Ashman dropped a pretty follow shot and Jilson got his only basket of the melee just before the close of the quarter. Jilson tied the score on Reetz's second personal for guarding the Polong star too closely, but Ashman dropped two freethrows to regain Appleton's lead just before the half-time mark. Appleton had an 8 to 6 lead at the half. Charlesworth again tied the score but Ashman dropped a ringer from midfloor to cut the lead. On Kneip's personal Jilson dropped two free throws, his fourth point in four tries from the safety mark, again tying the score. Bowby made a nice follow shot and put in another ringer immediately after from under the hoop on an out-of-bounds play. Ashman followed his own long shot and added two to the Appleton total. After Lowell had scored a ringer for New London, Huntly made a free throw on Bowby's personal. Charlesworth missed a free throw on Ashman's personal as did Kneip on one by Charlesworth and the quarter ended 18 to 13 for Appleton. Ladwig started the last period by missing a free throw on Ashman's foul and Bowby did the same twice on Charlesworth's miscue. Bowby made one point on Huntly's foul and baskets by Ashman and Kneip from under the hoop gave the Orange a 21 to 13 victory in their first tourney game.

Appleton New London
R. F. Bowby Jilson R. F.
L. F. Kneip Huntly L. F.

Substitutions: Coolin for Huntly; Voecks for Reetz.

MENASHA-CLINTONVILLE GAME
In a game featured by close guarding and fine defensive work, Menasha's fighting Palls downed Clintonville by a 9 to 8 score as the opener of the evening's program. Harold "Cricket" Schauder, midget Clintonville captain, was the star of the game, dropping three hard shots for all of his teams points from the field. He was the keystone of the offense and a bear on defense, although several of his shots found the hoop only to bound out again. With two minutes to play Clintonville drew up to within a point of the Pells city crew and when a pretty long shot by Schauder sailed in the basket and rolled out again in the last minute, the Clintonville crowd went wild howling for a victory. Not a basket was scored in the first half.

In a battle of free throws Menasha took a 2 to 1 lead in the first quarter. Bohman missed two free throws on fouls on Jensen and Scholl. Menasha guards, but Rummel dropped two for the Calderman on Schauder's personal. On Schauder's second foul a moment later he missed both tries. Bohman opened the second period by caging a free throw. The Pells crew were the best of the game. After Schauder had missed a free try on Jensen's foul, Smith caged a neat basket from the side of the floor. Klutz, Menasha center, made one of two attempts on Dentler's foul and followed this effort with a basket. After Bohman had missed a free throw on Klutz's foul, Rummel of Menasha and Schauder of Clintonville each put in a basket, ending the half 9 to 4 in favor of Menasha. In the final half fine defensive work by the Pells Wheel Drive boys kept the fighting Calderman from making a single point, while a field goal by "Cricket" Schauder in each quarter brought the Clintonville total to 8 with two minutes to go. Here Schauder was covered and Menasha lightened her defense to win by a 9 to 8 score. During this half Jensen and Schauder missed free tries that would have won the tilt, and Jensen missed one on Dentler's foul.

Clintonville
L. F. Rummel Schauder L. F.

COLLEGE FISH MEET IN RACES SATURDAY

The Lawrence college intermural swimming contest will be held at 4:30 Saturday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. Several crack swimmers of the college are entered and competition will be keen.

Contestants may enter in three out of four events, but one of them must be the 100 yard free style. Awards will be based on the point system, first place counting five points, second, three; third, one point. The winner will be given the college intramural swimming medal. The events in the order of the program are:
20 yard breast stroke (trial),
100 yard free stroke (trial),
100 yard breast stroke (finals),
20 yard free stroke (finals),
100 yard free stroke (finals),
40 yard crawl stroke (trial),
20 yard free stroke (final),
40 yard crawl stroke (final).

Short Shots

The games so far have developed a number of fine defenses and three or four guards of first-class ability. Capt. Belor and Farwell of the Kaukauna crew are the best pair on the floor. Beside playing a fine defensive game both can carry the ball down the floor and cage hard shots when they are needed. The Brandon and Appleton forwards will have to go some to pierce that classy defense.

Another new star guard of Thursday's play was Voecks, playing his first game for the Appleton. He covered Jilson, New London shooting ace, like a blanket, allowing him a total of "zero" points for more than a half and still having no fouls chalked up against him. Kovin now has three guards that will make the rest of the teams hustle. Reetz showed up well and shot through a trifle slow, played a good defensive game.

A peculiar feature of the tourney is that practically every team has a star forward built like a midget. But all can tear. The list includes Bowby, Appleton; Smith, Menasha; Schauder, Clintonville; Miller, Kaukauna; Pieper, New Holstein.

Saturday's games will be played in the afternoon and evening instead of morning and evening as usually the case, according to O. H. Plenske, district manager.

The final games look like Appleton against the Kaukauna Tigers for first place. The contest for third place looks like a merry mix up with Brandon, West Green Bay and New London as likely contenders. But the dope has been upset in larger tourneys than this and it wouldn't be surprising to see Brandon and Menasha play for first, especially if the other teams let the first day's lucky wins go to the well-known "weak" spot.

Hot Springs, Ark.—Young Ross, Syracuse won a newspaper decision over Eddie Ketchel of Toledo, in ten rounds.

basket several times but most of their shots went wild. They lead at the quarter, 2 to 0, but fell behind at that point on. Both teams peppered the basket for long shots in the last quarter but neither was able to count a point during the entire period. New Holstein showed a fine defense and three of the Brandon players were "hot" on side shots. Both teams should go good now that the first game is out of the way. Ehrbach of New Holstein and Raby of Brandon played the best games.

After about six minutes of the game was gone, during which the teams saw-sawed from one end of the floor to the other. Ehrbach dropped the only basket of the quarter for New Holstein from under the hoop. Raby of Brandon, starred the second quarter by missing two free throws on Klein's foul. On Bosma's foul he succeeded in caging one of two attempts. After Clark and Frei had scored a chance to put Brandon ahead with three free tries on Leveron's two personals, Frei dropped in a pretty overhead shot from the side and followed it with one from the free throw line, ended with the half. Brandon leading 6 to 2. Clark, Raby and Frei each dropped a ringer from under the hoop in the third quarter and Ehrbach dropped a hard shot for New Holstein's last basket. Wild shooting from all angles of the court left the hoop untouched in the last quarter and Brandon took the game by a 11 to 4 count.

Brandon New Holstein
Raby R. F. Ehrbach
Klein L. F. Clark
Bosma C. Frei
Piper R. G. Wagner
Leveron L. G. Wik
Substitutions: Pieper for Klein.

SEMI-FINAL GAMES
In Friday night's games Brandon tackled Kaukauna in the opener and Appleton and Menasha clash in the second of the semi-final group. While Kaukauna rules a favorite over Brandon by virtue of Thursday's games, the down state boys get their best hits in after the first game is played and Kaukauna will have to play lively to win. Appleton's rugged play during the first part of the London game should make the second game interesting as the Calderman are quick starters. Though Appleton is the favorite, the local quint will have to be on to whip Menasha, a team which always fights harder to beat Appleton than any other.

Ashman Picked For Conference Center By Valley Scribes

Orange Ace Chosen for Tip-off Job by Sport Writers—Bowby Receives Honorable Mention for Forward Position

ALL CONFERENCE TEAMS
First Team: P. Crabb, F. Toward, S. O'Brien, E. G. B. Peppard, Man. Ashman, App'n, C. Rondou, W. G. B. Elmer, Osh, G. Althouse, E. G. B. Shimek, Man. G. Dolan, Fondy.
Second Team: P. Crabb, F. Toward, S. O'Brien, E. G. B. Peppard, Man. Ashman, App'n, C. Rondou, W. G. B. Elmer, Osh, G. Althouse, E. G. B. Shimek, Man. G. Dolan, Fondy.
(These all conference basketball selections have been made following a poll of votes of sport writers from cities represented by high school basketball teams in the Valley conference.)

The class of basketball as played by the teams in the Valley conference this year was of such high grade that the selection of all star teams is more difficult than usual. In some instances, it was a draw vote on the opinions of the individual players and it was necessary to draw the line pretty fine in picking the first team. Every team in the conference is represented on the teams with the exception of Marinette. The Northwesterners were handicapped by inexperienced material but in another year Tom Johnson's youngsters will probably draw a place or two.

ONLY CONFERENCE PLAYERS
The selection is strictly a conference one. The clubs had been made from all teams in this part of the state, it is quite likely that Neenah and Shawano would have been placed as there were several sterling players on each of these teams. Forwards and centers as a rule were on a higher plane than the guards. Possibly this is due to the fact that the coaches laid more stress on building up splendid offensive machines. Several of the sport writers placed forwards at the guard positions. This looks pretty good on paper but it might be a different story when it came to actual competition.

MOSEY AT FORWARD
Benny Moser, the Fond du Lac captain, was nearly a unanimous choice for a forward. He has played sparkle ball all this season and, when things were not looking any too good for the Fruithorns, Moser was in putting a lot of pep into his work.

O'Brien, ace of the Green Bay East machine, is placed at the other forward. The lanky cager could perform in a forward job just as well as jumping center. O'Brien has had three years of varsity scholastic basketball and he is a finished player. He is a punch shooter and this counts a lot in close games.

Testwidue of Sheboygan and Peppard of Manitowoc are given the forward positions on the second team. Testwidue, who comes from a family of athletes, is a mighty dangerous man with the ball while Peppard's ability to dribble has made him a dangerous cager at all times.

Ashman of Appleton carries the center job. O'Brien is moved up to forward. The College City scholar is blessed with a good jump and is mighty fast on the floor. He shoots well and is big enough to stand a lot of abuse. Rondou, the West high middleman, was favored by several of the writers for a first team berth. He has been one of the bright spots in the Purple quint all season.

SHIMEK OF MANITOWOC
Shimek of Manitowoc got a lot of votes for a guard position. The Shipbuilders' captain experienced a good season on the court and it was his brilliant play that paved the way for his team to score a number of their victories. Shimek played heady basketball and he pulled his teammates out of many a tight hole.

The other guard position was a tossup between Elmer of Oshkosh and Dolan of Fond du Lac. There was little advantage either way. Elmer was a bit huskier and this earned him the berth. The Sawdust City leader nearly had to play it alone while Dolan had the advantage of several good teammates. Although the East Green Bay captain, was the best of the other guards. He probably was the best shot of any of the defensive players.

Among the other players deserving of mention are: Lindsay, Sheboygan; Bowby, Appleton; Burke, E. Green Bay; Hanson, Fond du Lac; Hanson, W. Green Bay; Gill, Marinette; Long, Sheboygan.

BADGERS FAVORITE FOR BIG TEN TRACK CROWN

Chicago—Friday night in the Western conference swimming championships and preliminaries in the indoor track and field contest brought the cream of Big Ten track and field athletes here.

Northwestern, host to the field stars, had ten men qualified for the swimming events in the University of Chicago pool and was favored to retain its tank title. Michigan and Wisconsin have well balanced track teams. Northwestern's running mainstay is Martin, who won the 1,000 yard run at the Illinois indoor relay games last month. Reinko, Michigan Valley Wisconsin, and Ponzer of Illinois are leading half milers; Plueck, Wisconsin; Captain MacFarlane, Chicago; Schock, Illinois; Peinsinger, Michigan; and Ohio, are likely qualifiers in the quarter mile.

BLUE MATMEN MEET RIPPON ON SATURDAY

Lawrence college wrestlers will meet Ripon college Saturday afternoon in the first intercollegiate match held between the two schools.

Coach "Liz" Blackburn's team is composed of Lee, Froebe, Anderson Schroeder, Nobles and Schaefer, winners of the recent all-campus tournament. Lee, 115 pound Formosan, and Nobles, 165 pounds, are experienced men and are counted upon as sure point winners. Ripon is said to have several stars in the heavyweight and lightweight classes, chief among them being Feicht and Nelson in the former, and Rosenbaum and Wieslak in the latter. Ray Gaudier, star grappler, is coaching Ripon. The matches will be staged preceding the finals in the district high school basketball tournament which is conducted at Appleton under the auspices of Lawrence college.

NO MIDWEST BASEBALL FOR LAWRENTIANS THIS SPRING

Because of the lack of good training facilities, since the new field is still under construction, Lawrence will not enter the Midwest Baseball League this spring. This strengthens considerably the outlook for a "hot time" in interfraternity baseball, with the men who would have played varsity baseball turning their energies to competition in the Greek league. The interfraternity council will begin a schedule soon for an early start. Silver trophies will be the awards for first and second place winners as in previous years.

YANKS BEAT BRAVES WITH BABE RUTH ON SIDELINES

New York—Babe Ruth stood before the multitude in a blue serge coat while fannel trousers and a straw hat while the Yankees went forth without him and batted a 14-10 victory over the Boston Braves at St. Petersburg Thursday.

Urban Shocker made his first appearance for the Yanks. Fournier and Wheat hit successive home runs for the Dodgers at Clearwater but the regulars won the battle 10 to 6. Young McPhee, who would succeed Dutch Ruether as Brooklyn's left handed stand-by, has pitched nine scoreless innings in the last three training games.

The Giants at Saratoga were a joyful lot after two victories over the Senators, and Manager McGraw was so overcome that he neglected to call for the customary nine inning practice game.

JIMMY BLOUIN BOWLS AT BUFFALO FRIDAY NIGHT

Buffalo, N. Y.—Jimmy Blouin, winner of all-events championship to 1909 and the singles in 1911, leads the Chicago delegation of pin topplers who will appear Friday night in the American Bowling Congress tournament. Blouin is a member of the P. L. Vets team, the lineup of which includes three other former national champions, Phil Wolfe, Hank Marino and Bill Brennan, Devio is the other member of the team. In addition to the Chicago delegation numbering 16 teams, bowling in the five-man event Friday night are several fast quintets from Detroit, St. Louis and other western cities.

WHIRLIGIG TOURNAMENT ON ELK ALLEYS SATURDAY

All pinsters of the city are invited to take part in the Elk's whirligig bowling tourney on the Elk alleys on Saturday. Several prizes will be given away. Each keizer can roll with any other partner as often as he desires and so get in on a number of prizes. Dr. W. E. O'Keefe was high man in the money division last Saturday.

WISCONSIN CAGERS DROP TOUGH GAME TO PURDUE

Wisconsin lost a hard-fought Big Ten basketball game by a six-point margin Thursday night when Purdue took the long end of a 32 to 26 score at Bloomington, Ind. Other important scores of the evening were: Franklin 28, Bradley 22; Oregon Aggies 32, California 25; Gustavus Adolphus 35, McAlister 18.

Palm Beach — Manuel Alonso, Spains Davis cup star, defeated Vincent Richards, Olympic champion, in the semi-finals of the Florida men's singles.

New York—Paavo Nurmi of Finland broke his 8,000 meter record in a special two mile race by making it in 5 minutes 20 2-5 seconds.

BADGERS AND MIDDIES IN ANNUAL ROWING REGATTA

New York—The United States naval academy's varsity's eight has sailed its formal entry for the Boughkeepsee regatta, to be held June 25, when the midshipmen will attempt to regain the laurels they held in 1921 and 1922.

This announcement, made today by the Intercollegiate Rowing Association, virtually assures the varsity cascade on the Hudson of seven entries with the chance that a young array of eight shells may compete. In addition to the four members of the I. R. A.—Cornell, Columbia, Syracuse and Pennsylvania—Wisconsin also has indicated it will come out again, while either Washington or California or both will represent the Pacific coast.

The status of Washington and California is not yet certain and depends largely upon the outcome of their annual race on the coast next month. If neither shows any marked superiority in his test, however, it is regarded as likely that both will decide to come east. Washington, victor in the varsity championship on the Hudson the last two years, desires to defend its laurels even if beaten by California, while the Golden Bears also are anxious to make the trip.

MRS. BUDLONG'S MESSAGES ATTACHED TO SHIRTS

The latest photo of Mrs. Jessie Budlong (right), New York society woman who locked herself in her husband's apartment, where she spent six days in a state of siege, going without food, and communicating with the outside world by means of messages attached to shirts of her husband. Lower left shows reporters trying to communicate with Mrs. Budlong by means of notes dangled on a string from the roof of the apartment. While in the upper left reporters are shown reading one of the messages that has just been removed from a shirt.

DATA OBTAINED BY SCRAPPING SHIPS AIDS FUTURE PLANS

Experts Will Be Able to Use Information in Building New Ships

Washington, D. C.—With a six or seven year period ahead before the United States may lay down its first replacement battleship under the Washington naval treaty, navy experts will have ample time to make the utmost use of data obtained from experiments on the hull of what was to have been the superdreadnought Washington and on other scrapped vessels in preparing designs for new ships. They are expected to achieve a decided advance in warship construction as a result of their prolonged studies.
The Washington experiments, details of which are regarded as among the most confidential matters in the custody of the navy department, afforded an opportunity to obtain information of an unusual character. The four ships of this class, three of which were completed and are now with the fleet, represent the most powerful defensive and offensive development in battleship building the world will know until the two new British superdreadnoughts are launched and commissioned. The only vessel approaching the Maryland, West Virginia and Colorado now afloat is the Japanese 16-inch gunned, post-Jutland battleship Mitsui.
Designs for this class of ships were prepared in the navy department while the European war was in progress, but before the United States entered the conflict. The submarine menace had almost reached its climax in threatening allied defeat before the plans were completed, and there are many things in the hull construction of the ships which grew out of war experience of the allies as observed by American experts. These have to do for the most part with better protection against torpedoes and mines and the experiments with the Washington hull afforded the only chance naval engineers of any nationality have had to test the methods of protection adopted on a scale that would furnish reliable data.

The designs of the ships were based in part upon extensive experiments of a similar nature with caissons built for the purpose and subject to attack. At best, however, this furnished only partial data as to the stresses which must be provided against in actual warfare. It is noteworthy that only the announcements as to the Washington experiment declared the expectations of the naval constructors who designed the ships were realized, implying that the hull resisted underwater attack to a degree that no battleship previously built could have been expected to do.
The Washington design also included additional protective deck construction made necessary when the war proved that sea battles could be fought at such extreme range that projectiles would fall from high angles, making the decks of combat ships the greatest danger point. Bombs dropped from aircraft would be directed at the decks, and despite the added weight and changes in stability that would result, it was obvious that protective decks must be adopted without sacrificing heavy side armor necessary for protection at shorter ranges with shells coming at flatter angles against the ships' sides. The protective decks of the Washington were subjected to attack also, both by bomb and shell fire which finally sent the uncompleted ship to the bottom off the Virginia capes.
Extensive data as to the results of every method of attack employed was compiled by the special naval board which conducted the tests. With this the experts have also data on shell fire against the turrets of the scrapped older battleship North Dakota, and a report from war days of the effect of heavy gun fire, torpedoes and mines on British and German battleships as the basis on which their studies will be conducted to lead up to the first replacement battleship design. Under the treaty the first replacement ships may be laid down in 1931 to be completed in 1934.

TUNEFUL RADIO CHIMES WILL TELL TIME OF DAY

Stockholm—Stockholm is planning to send high noon to all amateur radio stations in the kingdom and to do so melodiously.
Instead of the metallic click at second intervals, ending with the prolonged signal at the exact hour, as is done in the United States, Swedish listeners will hear the tuneful ringing of the city hall chimes, pride of the municipality and recently completed at a cost of $4,000,000.

TOY COMPANY GOES INTO BANKRUPTCY: MAY BE REVIVED

Sheriff's Sales Leave Little to Creditors—New Men May Organize Company

Filing of a voluntary petition in bankruptcy this week is the final outcome of financial difficulties encountered by the Toy Company of America, one of Appleton's newer industries. This does not mean necessarily that the industry is lost to the city, however, as negotiations now are in progress to interest new capital in taking over the plant and operating it.

Papers in the bankruptcy matter have been sent to Milwaukee for filing, according to a statement made by C. L. Wiggin, manager, on Thursday.

OWES OVER $100,000
Creditors and stockholders will realize very little from their obligations, Mr. Wiggin says, because practically all of the assets will exceed $100,000, according to the manager, with practically no assets to list.

The concern was under-capitalized, had several suits brought against it and other internal difficulties which prevented its progress. Mr. Wiggin declared, and these conditions brought about the bankruptcy. The plant was closed up when a mortgage of $10,000 on the machinery was foreclosed by Frank Whiting of Neenah and the equipment sold. Mr. Whiting purchased it at a sheriff's sale. Several other foreclosures and attachments, with accompanying sheriff's sales followed, and most of the manufactured products, goods in process, machinery and office equipment have been bought up at prices far below their inventory value.

DEMAND FOR PRODUCTS
The concern has enjoyed a large sale for its products and is thoroughly established from a selling standpoint. Its goods are in heavy demand all over the country and orders still are coming in, a condition which has led to steps for reorganization. One out of every two buyers at the national toy fair bought the company's goods each year, officials said.

It is understood that a new company is to be formed, with men of this city and several from New York as the owners. Nothing definite could be done, however, until the bankruptcy proceedings were executed. The new organization intends to buy up the assets held now by several persons and start the plant operating either in the present location or a new building. The factory was located in the Great Manufacturing company building.

TENDER CONFERENCE OF BOYS TO FOND DU LAC

The annual Wisconsin Older Boys conference will be held in Fond du Lac next fall, if the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. of that city approves the offer presented to the boys work committee by W. E. Wilson, state boys secretary. The older boys conference usually is attended by hundreds of boys from all parts of the state. The last gathering was held at Kenosha.

LIONS AT FOND DU LAC PREPARE FOR CONVENTION

Lions from all over the state are expected to flock to the annual state convention of Lions club, which will be held May 26 and 27 in Fond du Lac. The club will enter in a huge parade which this year will feature the convention. There also is to be a "stunt" program which will be held in connection with the banquet. Individual lions presenting talent in competition for cash prizes. Several clubs in the state plan 100 per cent attendance.

Why Not Knit a Sweater or Two For Spring?

The knitted sweater has become an essential part of the well-dressed woman's wardrobe. There is no garment that can add so much brightness and individuality to the dress of the modern woman. And the best part of all is that the cost is negligible. For a few dollars you can make a beautiful garment that you will be proud to own and display.

You can do this even though you have had no experience in knitting—our Bureau will aid you in the work.

It has for free distribution a knitting manual, which explains all there is to know about this fascinating work, and gives illustrated directions for the latest sweater models.

This booklet is yours for the asking. Fill out the attached coupon and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage.

Camp Fever Gets Under Boys' Skin

Lengthening days and brighter sunshine are getting under the skin of the boy scouts and there is hardly a meeting anywhere in Valley council, Boy Scouts of America, where this subject is not broached.

P. O. Keicher, valley executive, is as eager as the boys for the day when scouting can be conducted in the open and is right up with them in the shaping of plans. Every troop will have a chance to go to camp this summer if his wishes are carried out.

Troop 3, St. Thomas church, Menasha, has its plans all made. Immediately after school closes the scouts will pack their luggage and start out with their truck, Asthma, for the camp on Door-co peninsula owned by Judge Henry Grass of Green Bay. They will spend ten days there, under supervision of their scoutmaster, the Rev. R. A. Heron, and the executive, Mr. Keicher.

All other troops of the valley, according to plans now in formation, will go to Onaway island, Chain o' Lakes, Waupaca, at dates which are to be selected later.

Weekend hikes and outdoor instruction will be arranged in the meantime so that scouting will become more interesting as summer approaches rather than dwindling in enthusiasm.

TRACTION COMPANY BUYS POWER SITE

The power site at Pemene, a few miles above Pemene Falls, has been acquired by the North American Traction, Light, Heat and Power company of Appleton is a subsidiary. This is regarded as another step toward the establishment of the super-power line to connect the southern and northern parts of the state.

The Pemene damsite, on the Menominee river, was purchased from the Menominee River Boom company of Marinette. The North American company some time ago purchased the Peninsular Power company plant at Iron Mountain, as well as other sites in that vicinity.

These power sites will be linked with the company's system of transmission lines in southern Wisconsin.

RAILWAY AGENTS STUDY FORD EQUIPMENT PROBLEM

Agents of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Co. held a meeting in Green Bay Wednesday evening to study the handling of Ford equipment. Among those present were A. W. Liese, Appleton; W. Wollen, Menasha; R. A. Wangerin, Plymouth; S. H. Vaughn, Green Bay; M. E. Hastings, Menominee; Mich. H. Heid, Marinette; H. Hebbles, Iron Mountain; Mich. C. H. Thiel, Milwaukee; J. L. Brown, superintendent of transportation at Chicago.

C. OF C. WILL NAME FIVE DIRECTORS

Election of a nominating committee to prepare a slate of directors to replace those of the chamber of commerce whose terms expire will take place at the joint luncheon forum which is being arranged by the Rotary club for March 31. At that time Bishop Bennett of Duluth will speak at Conway hotel.

Members of the chamber of commerce, Rotary, Lions and Klwanis clubs will join for the luncheon, the last of a series of four arranged for the season. The program will be suspended for a few minutes while the chamber conducts its election of the nominating committee. Those thus chosen will prepare a list of ten names of men to succeed five whose terms run out. Those who complete their terms are J. H. Neller, R. B.

Carneross, A. R. Ellis, Dr. G. A. Ritchie and Louis Bonini.

Voting will be conducted by ballot and the result will be announced at the annual meeting of the chamber of commerce April 14.

ARE YOU ONE OF THE 98%?

Recently the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass. sent out over one hundred thousand questionnaires to women who had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, asking if they had been helped by its use. From the replies received 98 per cent of women, from the walks of life, answered in the affirmative, telling how they had been relieved from the various ailments for which they had taken it. Isn't this a wonderful recommendation for the efficiency of this old-fashioned root and herb medicine.

New Fashions In Coats and Dresses from the "Moderately Priced" Section

The "Moderately Priced Apparel Section" is greatly enlarged this season—for it not only occupies the space of last year, but also the space used by the shoe section. Our New York office has sent new coats and dresses for tomorrow's selling at these special low prices. Be sure to see them.

New Colored Coats of Fine Fabrics - $27.50

Fashionable Spring coats are very moderately priced in this section. These coats are made of such new materials as suede cloth, Bengaline cloth, downy wave, Deerskin, and flannel. Each coat is of excellent quality—full lined and very well made.

The new colorings include sandalwood, agate, Chili, leather, gingersnap, peach, marigold, moss green, Gobelins, sand and rouge.

There are both semi-sport and sport styles—made with the well-fitted shoulders and small collars of Spring.

—Second Floor—

"Tuxedo" Dresses in New Styles - $29.50

The $29.50 dress section is the exclusive agent of Tuxedo dresses for the Fox River valley. These dresses are made of unusually fine materials—in plain colored crepes and the popular printed materials.

Tuxedo dresses have distinctive stylings that put them in a class with much more expensive frocks. Leaders of "Vogue" and other fashion magazines are familiar with the quality.

These dresses are just a part of the new collections we will show tomorrow at this moderate price. Especially goods styling at $29.50.

Introducing New Models for Spring Warner's CORSELETTE

Can you wear the new straight-line frocks successfully? You can, if your figure lines are unbroken.

Your actual weight is not so important as its distribution; and nothing is so vital as the elimination of the unfashionable break at the waistline. Warner corselettes have proven very successful in accomplishing the straight silhouette.

The Corsette assures to any figure, small or large, the smart unbroken lines that are necessary under close-fitting frocks, it controls hips, thighs, and diaphragm, and leaves the waist comfortably free.

Models for daytime and evening wear.
